Armies in Spain Locked in Battle Many Pilgrims Start For Home While Others Visit Old Battlefields

Groups Crowding Embassies Are Put Aboard Train for Coast, to Be Taken Away By British Destroyer; Rebels Suffer Heavy Losses North of Madrid

Loyalist Force at La Linea Wiped Out

Associated Press
Madrid, July 27.—Violent fighting broke out anew this afternoon on distant fronts of the Spanish civil war while British and United States refugees were being evacuated from their crowded embassies in Madrid.

An unconfirmed report from the south said the Alcazar at Toledo, centre of attack by government tanks, armored cars and bombing planes, had surrendered.

Artillery boomed again in the Guadarrama Mountains, northwest of Madrid, with heavy rebel losses reported. Loyalist wounded were being brought back to the capital.

BATTLE AT SEVILLE
Heavy fighting raged in the heart of Seville, southern rebel stronghold, with a column of 2,000 government supporters reported in contact with loyalist forces in the city.

Anti-aircraft guns of the loyal fleet shot a rebel airplane over Malaga, southern seaport.

The British and United States refugees, huddled in their embassies for a long week of terror, were being taken to Alicante, on the southeast Spanish coast. The government placed a special train at their disposal. It was assumed they would board a British destroyer at Alicante, where the refugees were due to arrive to-night.

FORCE WIPED OUT
Associated Press
Gibraltar, July 27.—Reports reaching here tonight said a Spanish government force of several hundred had been "wiped out" in a battle with insurgent soldiers at La Linea.

ALCAZAR RUINED
Toledo, Spain, July 27.—A fierce battle was in progress today in this ancient Gothic capital, with government forces pitting tanks and armored cars against Fascist insurgents.

Planes bombed the famous Alcazar, one of Spain's most historic monuments. It crowns the peak on which the city built.

One side of the monument had been reduced to ruins and the other was burning fiercely.

PARK HIGHWAY BIDS OPENED

General Construction Low Tender on $185,000 Government Work

Bids on the second instalment of the Provincial-Dominion highway programme were opened by Hon. F. M. MacPherson, Minister of Public Works, today.

These were for work on the Kingsgate-Radium highway in the Rocky Mountain park system. G. F. Horsey of the National Parks Department attended the opening of tenders.

General Construction Company Ltd. submitted the lowest figure, $185,778.25. Other bids were: Dawson Wade and Co. Ltd., $192,013.45; Columbia Bithulthine Ltd., $195,987.40; Carter-Halls Aldinger Co. Ltd., $203,414.50.

Six firms were invited to tender, but only these four submitted bids.

The work to be done involves 18.2 miles of bituminous surfacing, widening and improving alignments on the Moyie Lake and Dutch Creek sections, diversion and reconstruction on the Lumberton-Cranbrook section, and raising the grade on the Skookumchuck-Fraser section.

Contracts will be let shortly.

Mr. MacPherson said contracts will also be let this week on projects for which bids were opened last Thursday. Among these is the widening of the Malahat and improvements to the Jordan River road.

As rapidly as projects are approved by the two governments, bids are being called, Mr. MacPherson added.

Tenders on another list of road works in the programme were called today.

Projects on Vancouver Island include 2.3 miles of reconstruction at Buckley Bay and 3.5 miles at Campbell River on the Island Highway.

Other works include: Thirteen miles of reconstruction on the trans-Canada Highway between Kamloops and Cache Creek; two miles of reconstruction between Spence's Bridge and Merritt; 2.6 miles between Kamloops and Kelowna; 2.4 miles between Okanagan Falls and Oliver; one mile of new road in South Okanagan south of Kelowna, and reconstruction work at two places on this route.

The bids on these projects will be received at noon Thursday, and will be opened immediately by Mr. MacPherson.

Young Women Fight In Madrid's Defence

Fighting side by side with their brothers, husbands and sweethearts in the civil war that has turned Spain into a battlefield are many of the country's prettiest señoritas. This NEA Service radiophoto shows two spirited girls, armed with rifle, sabre and pistol, as they appeared when leading a column of citizens' militia through the streets of Madrid in a hunt for rebel adherents.

Reward of $500 In Fur Robbery

The provincial government today offered a reward of $500 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons involved in the $32,500 fur robbery of the Hudson's Bay post at Fort Nelson. Meanwhile the far-flung northland search for the bandits continued on the ground and in the air, and police were awaiting reports from searchers posted in the woods along the trail believed to have been taken by the thieves.

INTERIOR HEAT CAUSES WINDS

Victoria Cool as Interior Thermometers Soar

Despite the cool winds blowing in from the sea, Victoria had a perfect week-end for outings, and thousands went again to the beaches and lakes and parks to get a day and a night in the open air.

The highest temperature recorded at Gonzales Hill this morning is explained by W. A. Thorn, superintendent, that whenever it gets extremely hot in the interior of the province strong winds blow over Vancouver Island from the Pacific Coast.

Yesterday was not quite so hot in the interior, with the result that the wind dropped considerably, much to the relief of people who like to spend the evenings watering their gardens.

Against Importing Coal from Russia

Rumored plans of Ottawa authorities to introduce a trade treaty with Russia, which, among other things, would permit the importation of coal to Canada, were opposed by the directors of the Chamber of Commerce at a luncheon today.

The directors acted upon a resolution from the Saskatchewan branch of the Canadian Retail Merchants' Association, which opposed the proposal and sought outside support of the resolution.

George I. Warren, secretary, reported he had communicated with Col. J. C. Villiers of Canadian Colliers for an opinion on the question, and Col. Villiers had replied in support of the motion of the Saskatchewan branch opposing the plan.

Manitoba Goes To Polls With Total Of 130 Seeking Seats

Warm Weather Marks Election Day With Fifty-two of Fifty-five Seats in Legislature to Be Filled; One Acclamation and Two Ridings to Vote Later

Winnipeg, July 27.—Manitoba electors went to the polls today with prospects of the clear and warm weather continuing throughout the afternoon as they selected fifty-two members of the fifty-five member Legislature.

The Liberal-Progressive government of Premier John Bracken reached election day with a lead of one member. S. G. Garson was returned by acclamation in Fairford when official nominations were made July 17.

One of the interesting fights to sportsmen is in Portage la Prairie, where two former presidents of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association are the only contestants. E. A. Gilroy, president in 1934-35, is the Liberal-Progressive candidate. W. R. Scrimm, Conservative and sitting member, was president in 1922-23.

The scriptural lesson Wisdom 11:1-9, was read, and the hymn, "O Valiant Heart," sung prior to the address by Rev. Mr. Church. Mr. Church, who was himself overseas, spoke feelingly of the sacrifices made by the Canadian at Vimy Ridge.

The hymn "Abide With Me" was followed by the blessing, and the service came to a close with the singing of La Marseillaise and God Save the King.

DYNAMITE PLOT BALKED
Lima, Peru, July 27 (Associated Press).—The government of Peru announced today it had thwarted a plot set to break out tomorrow with dynamite and army and navy forces during the traditional July 28 Independence Day parade.

Voting has been deferred until August 21 in the two northern constituencies of The Pas and Rupert's Land. Premier Bracken is a candidate in The Pas and his provincial treasurer, Hon. E. A. McPherson, in Rupert's Land.

A total of 130 candidates are seeking the fifty-two seats being decided today. The Liberal-Progressives and Conservatives are the only groups with sufficient representatives in the field to obtain a majority in the Legislature.

5,000 ATTEND SERVICES HERE

Tribute Paid Canadian War Dead at Vimy Ridge in Park Ceremony

Close to 5,000 Victorians attended the drumhead memorial service in the Mayor's Grove at Beacon Hill Park yesterday.

The service coincided with the unveiling and dedication of the Canadian War Memorial at Vimy Ridge by King Edward VIII, and was arranged by the Victoria and District Council, Canadian Legion, B.E.S.I.

The bells of Christ Church Cathedral rang out with muffled peals for the service which paid tribute to men of Victoria and Canada who fell in the famous action at Vimy.

Veterans, many of whom took part in the battle, gathered to the number of 800 on Humboldt Street shortly after 3 o'clock, and under the command of Sir Percy Lake, K.C.B., K.C.M.G., marched to the park. There were detachments as well from H.M.S. Apollo, the Royal Canadian Navy, Military Districts No. 11, and the non-permanent forces. The women's auxiliaries and nursing sisters also took part.

Programmes to the total of 4,650 were distributed by the legion officials in charge, and the entire congregation joined in the hymns to the accompaniment of the Canadian Legion Band.

The service was conducted by Rt. Rev. H. E. Sexton, Bishop of Columbia, assisted by Rev. E. F. Church, Metropolitan United Church.

The singing of "O Canada" signalled the start of the service, followed by the Scottish Lament, "Flowers of the Forest," played by Piper A. Pollock.

Dedication of Canada's War Memorial on Vimy Ridge, Performed by King Edward in Presence of 100,000, Drew Attention of Millions to That Part of France; Pilgrims Today Broken Up in Number of Groups

By CAPT. W. W. MURRAY, M.C.
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Vimy Ridge, France, July 27.—Canadian pilgrims—veterans and their King—turned toward home today, or scattered on special journeys to fields of their own choosing, scenes of old battles, acres of fading crosses.

King Edward was back in England, carried by air across the Channel to affairs of state. President Lebrun was in Paris. The men and women of northern France returned to their tasks in field and factory and mine.

Alone on the crest of Vimy Ridge two pylons broke the sky with heroic symmetry—alone, except for the sleeping thousands buried in these plains in whose honor the symbol in stone was reared through several years and dedicated yesterday.

Today the familiar task is somehow different. A king looks at thoughtfully from his desk, a miner hums old tunes at the coal-face, a farmer sees with new vision the grass-grown scar of a parapet.

RENDZVOUS WITH MEMORY
King and citizen and veteran came yesterday to a rendezvous with memory—the upbuilding of Canada's memorial to the youth, dead in war, of her last generation. King Edward unveiled it; President Albert Lebrun spoke; a message was read from Prime Minister King; the widows of the fallen addressed the throng, estimated at 100,000; three war-time chaplains prayed for peace.

Six thousand pilgrims, men and women who had crossed the sea from Canada to renew the war-time bond or to look on this land where son or father or brother died, stood silent as His Majesty unveiled the memorial to the dead, "in a spirit of thankfulness for their devotion and of pride in their comradeship."

The King delivered the first part of his address in French, as follows: "I am very grateful to you, Mr. President, for having made the journey to Vimy to join with us on the occasion of today's ceremony."

"The presence of the President of the Republic will touch profoundly the Canadian people. For my part I congratulate myself that you have given me the opportunity to express from the bottom of my heart to the French nation my thanks and all the gratitude of the people of Canada for the honor you have done to these who sacrifice is inscribed on this monument and for the welcome you have accorded to their parents and friends who have crossed the ocean to be present at this inauguration."

The King arrived with Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Canadian Minister of Justice, to find vast crowds already gathered around the monument, with French soldiers holding clear a space for the Canadian pilgrims and those who had a part in the service.

CHATTED WITH VETERANS
A slim figure in grey morning coat with glistening medals, he received presentations, inspected the guard, and then joined in the talk of the visiting veterans at the memorial's base. He spent twenty minutes chatting and asking questions, smiling broadly at the enthusiasm which led the veterans to sing "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow."

President Lebrun came while the band struck up "La Marseillaise," and as squadrons of the Royal Air Force and the French Air Force soared over the memorial in aerial salute, the rulers went to the dais with the Canadian ministers and the officiating chaplains.

The plaintive strains of "The Flowers of the Forest," the Scotsman's traditional lament in any country, for the fallen, concluded the religious ceremony after brief addresses by Rev. Cecil C. Owen of R. Colwell, Seattle, 6-3, 6-4, 6-3.

The bout will be held in the Garden's Long Island Bowl sometime between September 24 and September 30.

LIFE IN JAIL FOR KARPIS

C. Fitzgerald Also Sentenced
At St. Paul for Hamm
Kidnapping

Associated Press

St. Paul, July 27.—Alvin Karpis and Charles Fitzgerald, participants in the $100,000 William Hamm Jr. kidnapping, today were sentenced to life terms by Federal Judge M. M. Joyce. Both had pleaded guilty earlier.

Before sentence was imposed, Karpis, asked by the court whether he had anything to say, declared: "Jack Pfeiffer is absolutely not guilty, because I know the circumstances. He had nothing to do with the kidnapping."

Pfeiffer, a St. Paul night club operator charged as "finger man" in the case, was convicted of a part in the abduction plot by a federal court jury Saturday.

Before imposing sentence, Judge Joyce described kidnapping as "one of the most heinous crimes known to law."

"Kidnapping is one crime the American people will not tolerate," said the judge. "Its unpopularity as a vocation is largely due to the crystallization of sentiment by the presence of the United States, as well as the unrelenting diligence of those charged with ridding down kidnappers."

Judge Joyce then addressed Karpis first and said:

"It is the judgment of the court that you Alvin Karpis, or Karpis, be confined to the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth or at such penal institution as the Attorney-General may designate, for the remaining period of your natural life."

He pronounced a similar sentence on Fitzgerald.

Fitzgerald also asserted Pfeiffer at no time was present at the twin city kidnapping gang hideouts, as Byron Bolton, confessed kidnapper, had testified.

Still awaiting sentence, along with Bolton, is Edmund C. Bartholmey, former Bensenville, Ill., postmaster, whose home Hamm identified as the place where he was imprisoned four days. The abduction was carried out June 15, 1935.

He was sentenced to life in the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth or at such penal institution as the Attorney-General may designate, for the remaining period of your natural life."

"We raise this memorial to Canadian warriors. It is an inspired expression in stone chiseled by a skillful Canadian hand of Canada's salute to her fallen sons. It marks the scene of feats of arms which history will long remember and Canada can never forget. And the ground it covers is the gift of France to Canada."

"All the world over there are battlefields the names of which are written indelibly on the pages of our troubled human story. It is one of the consolations which time brings that the deeds of valor done on those battlefields long survive the quarrels which drove the opposing hosts to conflict. Vimy will be one such name. Already the scars of war have well-nigh vanished from the fair landscape beneath us. Around us here today there is peace and rebuilding of hope. And so also in dedicating this memorial to our fallen comrades our thoughts turn rather to the splendor of their sacrifice and to the consecration of our love for them than to the cannonage which beat upon this ridge a score of years ago."

SPIRIT OF REVERENCE
"In that spirit, in a spirit of thankfulness for their example, of reverence for their devotion and of pride in their comradeship, I unveil this memorial to Canada's dead."

The value of an apple for making cider depends largely on its chemical composition, particularly its acid and tannin content, says an agricultural chemist.

FOOD SUPPLIES REACH MADRID

Hundreds of Tons Received
As Rebels Try to Starve
Out Loyalist Forces

Havas News Agency

Madrid, July 27.—Hundreds of tons of food brought into Madrid today from the provinces upset rebel hopes of forcing this capital into surrender by a prolonged siege as the government announced rebel forces had been completely routed from the Guadarrama Mountain region to the north.

At the same time loyal government planes bombed rebel strongholds and ordered all electric power cut off in Seville, Cadiz and Algeiras, key cities held by the insurgents.

RADIO STATIONS WRECKED

The radio station at Ceuta, Spanish Morocco, was reported wrecked by bombs dropped on it. The government also announced fires had broken out at Melilla after an aerial offensive by loyalist aircraft.

Cartagena, important Mediterranean naval base, was captured from the rebels after a bloody conflict, it was officially announced.

The capture of Villanueva de la Serena in Badajoz province was believed imminent.

CONSUL'S WIFE SLAIN

Saint Jean de Luz, France, July 27 (Associated Press).—The slaying of the Norwegian consul's wife and her nurse in San Sebastian, Spain, by boys barely big enough to hold rifles was reported today by refugees reaching here from that city.

Four of fourteen and sixteen, enlisted in the Popular Front Militia, roamed the streets in defiance of their superiors, and fired indiscriminately.

Party of Boston Newspapermen and Photographers, Taking Pictures of Ss. Queen Mary, in Fateful Mishap

By FRANCIS W. CARPENTER
Associated Press Staff Writer

Aboard Ss. Exermont, en route to New York, July 27.—Eight men, survivors of a fatal airplane dive into the Atlantic Ocean off the Nantuxet Lightship, and their dead companion were rushed to New York today.

The large Bellanca cabin plane, piloted by Capt. William Wincapaw, veteran New England flier, crashed yesterday after it had circled the British liner Queen Mary so several Boston newspaper photographers could take pictures.

Edwin T. Ramsdell, forty-six, Boston Post photographer, died shortly after the accident, apparently from internal injuries.

Walter Jordan of The Christian Science Monitor, and William Reiter, vice-president of La Touraine Coffee Company, owners of the plane, suffered deep head gashes in their attempts to escape from the plane.

Others in the party, all uninjured, were Herbert Stier, Boston Herald photographer; George Mason of Boston, vice-president of the National Aeronautical Association; Ezra S. Eaton of Brookline, Mass. president-treasurer of Thompson's Spa, Inc.; Leslie Cain, twenty-six, of Rockland, Me., and myself.

CAUGHT IN DOWN DRAFT
We had circled the Queen Mary and were taking pictures of her stern when the plane got caught in a downward draft about 200 feet above the water. It lost altitude despite Captain Wincapaw's desperate attempts to close the ship.

As we fell toward the water Wincapaw yelled to Stier in the co-pilot's seat, "We're going down. We're going down."

We smacked the water hard. We didn't realize the danger until we saw the left wing crumple and felt water rushing in. Mason and Stier battered the rear door open.

The plane fell about 300 yards in front of the Exermont and Captain Lundmark quickly put over a boat and we were taken aboard.

Suggestion Made That
Hatchery May Be Started
at Lake

Shawnigan Lake, July 27.—Through the efforts of Mayor J. A. Motherwell of the Dominion Fisheries Department, $50,000 Kamloops trout were deposited in the lake during the month, and information is to hand from the Provincial Department of Fisheries that the department will be depositing 50,000 in the lake every month for a lengthy period in order that at some future date the lake may be in a position to supply other lakes with young fish for restocking.

It is suggested that a fish hatchery may be started at the lake in the near future. Trout, cat fish and crayfish have been taken from the lake since last week for experimental purposes to find out what food these fish subsist on.

With the Rebel Forces at Pamplona, Spain, July 27.—Resisting rebel troops today for an expected food shortage to open an avenue into Madrid.

Unhurried and patient, the Fascist general staff granted indefinite vacation periods to weary forces while asserting its columns many miles southward in the Guadarrama Mountain passes, had won the victories from loyal defenders.

Madrid, July 27.—(By secret courier to Mendaza, France).—With loyal guards and militiamen strengthening their mountain positions in the Guadarrama range northwest of the capital and striking out for complete rebel surrender at scattered other fronts, Madrid's people went lightly heartily about their daily routine—completely unaware of the proximity of rebel armies.

LITTLE NEWS
Newspapers have been ordered to conceal the truth. Government broadcasts give no inkling of how close the rebels actually have approached.

Hence, life in the capital virtually has returned to normal in the last few days.

LEVIEN IN MOROCCO
Casablanca, French Morocco, July 27 (Associated Press).—Gen. Francisco Franco, southern leader of the Fascist rebellion, which dominates Spanish Morocco, was reported troubled today by financial difficulties.

The insurgent commander was attempting to refill his draining treasury, it was reported, by levying tribute on the population through requisition of merchandise and issuance of bonds in the name of the revolutionary provisional government.

LINKS STRENGTHENED
Le Matia speaks of the appropriateness of the Vimy ceremony as tightening the links with "our British and Canadian friends. It recalls that to defend the pacific ideal it is necessary to be devoted to that ideal, to defend it even unto death."

Albert Petit writes in the Journal des Debats: "Canadians did not for their own country, which was menaced, but for the motherland of mankind (patrie humaine) that is to say, for the common country of all men of peace and good will. Vimy Ridge is one of those spiritual summits of a better world whereof the dead who lie there had the conviction they were preparing the magnificent advent."

FRONTIERS DOWN
In Comedie, Maurice Champel draws a lesson of Franco-British friendship definitely verified. "When clouds gather over Europe that is something which in a diplomatic sense is not lacking in comfort."

"Finally, and it is our great regret no longer either by land or sea, 'Armament' manufacturers may die of vexation; this century counts on them no more. . . . This century decided that for realization of 'humanism,' its ideal, there is only one motherland: The peace of the world."

The Socialist Populaire and Communist Humanite both display stories and pictures of the ceremony on their front pages. Humanite heads it. "In Presence King Edward VIII Lebrun Celebrates the Union of French and British Democracies."

King Edward, it was stated, realized the responsibilities of French authorities had been increased tremendously as a result of the Spanish civil war. Consequently, he did not wish to add to them.

It was understood the King had discussed the question with President Lebrun of France while at Vimy Ridge yesterday and had told M. Lebrun of his decision. King Edward flew back from Vimy, where he unveiled the Canadian memorial.

Originally he had planned to occupy the Cannes villa of Maxine Elliott, the actress, for two weeks early in August.

The royal yacht Victoria and Albert is in commission, ready for a cruise, and the King may decide on such an alternative for his holiday.

Lisbon, Portugal, July 27.—Several men and officers of the Portuguese army were wounded today by a shell which fell across the border at Valencia, Portugal.

An officer of the Spanish rebel army offered apologies for the accident.

ASSURANCES

Jugoslavia, Greece and Turkey Considered Safe from Italian Aggression

Associated Press

London, July 27.—Foreign Secretary Eden announced today in the House of Commons the ending of assurance to aid Jugoslavia, Greece and Turkey in the event of aggressive Italian action in the Mediterranean sea.

The assurances, given when sanctions were imposed against Italy, were "extended" for the "period of uncertainty" at the time Britain formally lifted sanctions under League of Nations decision July 15.

Mr. Eden, in initiating a debate on foreign affairs in the Commons, stated "the position of uncertainty now has been brought to an end" by Italy herself approaching the three governments.

Italy in a "spontaneous declaration," Mr. Eden continued, gave the three governments the "clearest assurance that Italy is not contemplating any action against them in return for their past actionist policy."

BRITISH KEEP CLEAR IN SPAIN

Associated Press
London, July 27.—Great Britain will observe a rigid policy of non-intervention in Spain's civil war, it was stated in Downing Street today.

Authoritative circles received with satisfaction the news that Leon Blum's French government would "not yield to Madrid's entreaties for arms and ammunition."

So far Spain has not asked for British help to put down the rebels, it was stated.

Paris, July 27.—The ceremony at Vimy Ridge yesterday, when King Edward unveiled the Canadian Memorial to its soldier dead, made a deep impression in France.

All French post offices this morning opened sale of a special Vimy stamp that sold rapidly in a temporary little wooden post office at the ridge itself.

On the grand boulevards of Paris movie theatres feature picture of the ceremony. Important Paris newspapers give first page prominence to stories told in moving words and appreciative sympathy.

LINKS STRENGTHENED
Le Matia speaks of the appropriateness of the Vimy ceremony as tightening the links with "our British and Canadian friends. It recalls that to defend the pacific ideal it is necessary to be devoted to that ideal, to defend it even unto death."

Albert Petit writes in the Journal des Debats: "Canadians did not for their own country, which was menaced, but for the motherland of mankind (patrie humaine) that is to say, for the common country of all men of peace and good will. Vimy Ridge is one of those spiritual summits of a better world whereof the dead who lie there had the conviction they were preparing the magnificent advent."

FRONTIERS DOWN
In Comedie, Maurice Champel draws a lesson of Franco-British friendship definitely verified. "When clouds gather over Europe that is something which in a diplomatic sense is not lacking in comfort."

"Finally, and it is our great regret no longer either by land or sea, 'Armament' manufacturers may die of vexation; this century counts on them no more. . . . This century decided that for realization of 'humanism,' its ideal, there is only one motherland: The peace of the world."

The Socialist Populaire and Communist Humanite both display stories and pictures of the ceremony on their front pages. Humanite heads it. "In Presence King Edward VIII Lebrun Celebrates the Union of French and British Democracies."

King Edward, it was stated, realized the responsibilities of French authorities had been increased tremendously as a result of the Spanish civil war. Consequently, he did not wish to add to them.

It was understood the King had discussed the question with President Lebrun of France while at Vimy Ridge yesterday and had told M. Lebrun of his decision. King Edward flew back from Vimy, where he unveiled the Canadian memorial.

Originally he had planned to occupy the Cannes villa of Maxine Elliott, the actress, for two weeks early in August.

The royal yacht Victoria and Albert is in commission, ready for a cruise, and the King may decide on such an alternative for his holiday.

PEACE URGED AS MEMORIAL

Premier King's Message
Read at Unveiling of Canada's Vimy Monument

Vimy Ridge, July 27.—A world at peace is the only memorial worthy of the war dead, said Premier King in a message read yesterday at the unveiling of Canada's Vimy Memorial.

Hon. C. G. Power, Minister of Pensions and National Health, read the message as follows: "O valiant hearts, who to your glory came through dust of conflict and through battle-flame; Tranquil you lie, your knightly virtue proved. Your memory hallowed in the land you loved."

"In your name, Canada appeals to the nations of Europe today. 'This she does in the honored presence of Her King and of the President of the Republic of France, and of friends of those who were once your comrades in arms.'

"Canada wishes the nations of Europe to know that her thoughts, while of you, are also of the many loved ones of their lands, who, like you, lie silent in their graves."

"In their name, as well as in yours, Canada speaks today."

FOR END OF ALL WAR
"Canada asks that the nations of Europe strive to obliterate whatever makes for war and for death. 'She appeals to them to unite in an effort to bring into being a world at peace.'

"This is the trust which we, the living, received from those who suffered and died. It is a trust which we hold in common."

"A world at peace, Canada believes, is the only memorial worthy of the valor and the sacrifice of all who gave their lives in the Great War."

Sparling set up a 5-3 game lead in the third before Dranga ran out with four straight to take it.

In the fourth and final set, Sparling came back brilliantly to tie the set at 5-5 on the deuce tenth game. The Seattle man took the eleventh and clinched the set up a 5-3 game lead in the third before Dranga ran out with four straight to take it.

THREE PADRES AT MEMORIAL

Rev. C. C. Owen, Rev. G. O. Falls and Msgr. E. A. Deschamps Speak at Vimy

Vimy Ridge, July 27.—Three war-time padres spoke briefly at the service which preceded the unveiling of Canada's war memorial here yesterday. They were Rev. C. C. Owen of Vancouver, Rev. G. O. Falls of Toronto, and Monsignor E. A. Deschamps of Montreal.

Mr. Owen called for a "fresh determination to develop the spirit of brotherhood." To the many who thought the Great War would end war, "We can only say that One, the only One, can make men live together in love and peace."

It was by faith that men crossed the sea, hewed down forests, erected homes, schools and churches, said Mr. Falls. It was likewise by faith that "battalion after battalion" sailed for France, "died at Givenchy, Festubert, Ypres, Sanctuary Wood, Maple Copse, the Somme, Vimy Ridge."

"Today on these slopes of Vimy a deathless army urges us on," said the speaker. "This monument is a fresh pledge that we shall not break faith."

PRAYER FOR PEACE
"I would wish that this manifestation of high patriotism, if it does not actually take the form of a prayer, should at least have the attribution of prayer for universal peace," said Monsignor Deschamps.

Christians should not only hope for peace, but work for its realization. Humanity could escape from the curse of war "on the condition that all nations, in a common ideal of mutual harmony, justice and respect, base their claim on the immortal teachings of the Gospel of Christ."

Peace Message From Vimy Ridge

Canada Calls to World for End of War as Great Memorial Is Dedicated

By GEORGE HAMLETON
Canadian Press Staff Writer
Vimy, France, July 27.—From the war-torn crest of Vimy yesterday Canada gave to the world a message of peace.

It was a scene impressive beyond words—such a scene as France in all her moving history had not witnessed before.

Gathered at the foot of the great memorial stood in reverent silence 6,000 men and women of the Canadian pilgrimage. King Edward, looking more youthful than ever, had gone among them with a friendly smile, shaking hands and exchanging greetings. Close by stood the President and ministers of France.

Numerous as were the pilgrims, they were vastly outnumbered by the great crowds who surged up from villages and towns in France and Flanders.

Their excursion buses jammed roads. They picnicked with bread and wine on parapets of old trenches, now grassgrown and smiling with flowers. They swarmed over old battlefields golden with harvest.

CHILDREN ATTEND

French children from Vimy village, to whom the Great War is the story of an earlier generation, merrily climbed the steep face of the ridge.

And for miles around the sun shone brightly on peaceful fields, on thriving municipalities which a score of years ago were little more than shell-wrecked names.

War memories moved the great crowd. Eyes were moist as the Last Post rang over remembered comrades. Yet in all the ceremony there was no clamor of triumph. The note in almost every spoken word was of tribute to the fallen, of rededication to the cause of peace.

"Let the people learn to love one another," pleaded Auxiliary Bishop Deschamps of Montreal, "until the word 'enemies' has passed from the lexicon of mankind."

As the two-minute silence fell, swallows fluttered around the memorial. Then when revells sounded its call to another day, they started away as though bearing abroad a message of peace.

The brothers are Joseph Waters, seventy, Sarnia; James, sixty-eight, Point Marion, Penn.; William, J., sixty-two, East Liverpool, West Virginia; and George, fifty-eight, Pittsburgh.

Stress Canada's Double Heritage

At Vimy Unveiling Lapointe and Mackenzie Make Peace Appeal

Canadian Press from Havas
Vimy Ridge, July 27.—The mutual desire of "old Europe and young America" for peace, and the "nation-building quality of Canada," a two-fold heritage derived from her origins in Britain and France, were outlined by Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Canadian Minister of Justice, and Hon. Ian Mackenzie, Minister of National Defence, in brief addresses at the unveiling of the Dominion's memorial to her war dead here yesterday.

Both ministers stressed the obligation to strive for peace, in the light of the sacrifice made for that cause by the thousands whose deaths are commemorated in the Vimy Monument.

After thanking King Edward and President Albert Lebrun for their presence, Mr. Lapointe said the pillars of stone in the memorial were the symbol of Canada's eternal gratitude to those who died.

The ceremony had a special character. "On the soil of Canada two races, nurtured and cradled by old France, reared and brought to national maturity by Great Britain, have faithfully preserved the ideals of social progress and democratic liberty derived from their two mother countries."

IMMEDIATE RESPONSE
Canada was the first of all American peoples to enter the war. The response was spontaneous and immediate, Mr. Lapointe said. Now "it is old Europe and young America who commune in the conception of a mutual desire, arising out of the immolation of that great conflict. This conception, this noble desire, predicted a new human ideal, a higher plane of civilization, in which recourse to brute force will vanish before the rights of the helpless, the revolt of conscience, and the cries of sorrowing mothers."

Humanity has now determined to rise above the level of the "bloody Golgotha" of 1914-1918, and to "seek sanctuary in justice and truth."

TWO CIVILIZATIONS

Mr. Mackenzie referred to the symbolism in the memorial of "the two civilizations, British and French, united in those dark and testing days as they are united here today in this solemn service of commemoration—and as they have been united in our Canadian land for well-nigh two centuries, devoting the best that is in the genius of the two peoples to the steadfast upbuilding of a united

Archdeacon Scott Says Prayer at Vimy

FIRE-TRAPPED MEN ESCAPE

Blainville, Alta., July 27.—Fifty-six men, trapped since late Thursday by a forest fire in Kootenay Pass, on the Alberta-British Columbia boundary, emerged safely from the fire zone early yesterday, arriving at the Castlemount ranger station.

All the men were in good condition, reports said. Coming out from behind the swiftly advancing flames at 6 a.m., they showed little effects of their long ordeal. They said they were willing to sacrifice their lives not for the satisfaction of material interests but for the beauty of an ideal and the nobility of a memory, that many of them faithful to the call of blood, recalling the Champlains, the Malmousses and the Cavaliers in battle, and the Montcalms, returned to their ancient

President of France Voices Nation's Friendship as Canada's Memorial Dedicated

Vimy, France, July 27.—A witness of the unveiling by King Edward yesterday of the great Canadian War Memorial here was President Albert Lebrun of France, who in an address to the assembled throngs described the majestic monument as one "which throughout the ages our compatriots will enshrine with their pious solicitude."

President Lebrun opened by addressing the King. He said: "Sixty-four years ago we met a few leagues from here at Thiepval. We inaugurated in a community of spirit and heart the memorial built by the care of the Imperial War Graves Commission in honor of the dead of our two armies—left without individual graves after the Battle of the Somme."

"I still recall the noble and so moving address which as Prince of Wales, in the name of your august father, you made at that time."

"Today, for a similar ceremony, it is the King and Emperor of the great British Empire who is our guest and whom I have the honor and happiness to greet for the first time on French soil."

The President here paid a tribute to the late King George.

"Gentlemen," he continued, "here we are united to consecrate, in the presence of the head of the British dynasty, the representatives of the Ottawa government and the first magistrate of the French Republic, the monument which the tender care of the Canadian people has erected to the memory of its 600,000 sons who fell fighting for the freedom of their fatherland, and in honor of the army corps commanded by General Byng which in 1917 took Vimy Ridge in action as glorious as it was bloody."

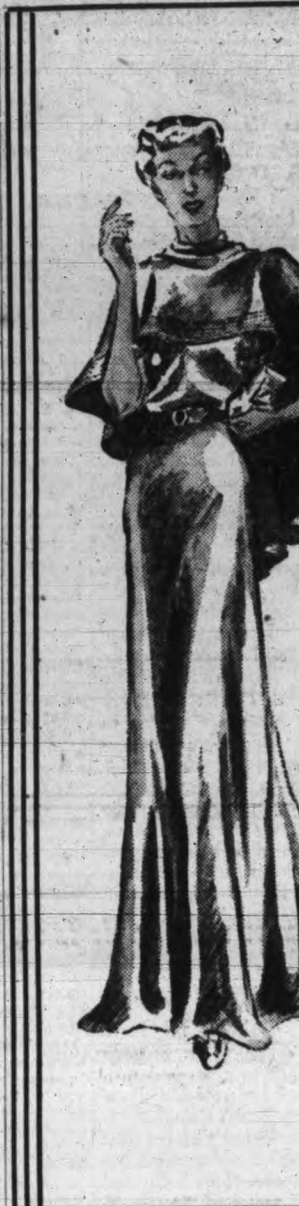

ON GREAT SCALE
"The masterpiece which rises before our eyes, by its grandiose dimensions, its proud and pure symbolism, is one of the most remarkable among the many which commemorate on the field of battle the valor and abnegation of warriors."

"May this monument henceforth dominate with its imposing mass the immense plain which lies before us."

"To the laborer lying on the green-awed resting his tired body, to the miner coming out from the earth's entrails, the majesty and severe aspect of these stones will recall the urgent lessons which are to be learned from the past."

BEAUTY OF AN IDEAL

"It will recall to them that here several hundred thousand men, come from a faraway land, spilled their blood to defend their hearth; that they were willing to sacrifice their lives not for the satisfaction of material interests but for the beauty of an ideal and the nobility of a memory, that many of them faithful to the call of blood, recalling the Champlains, the Malmousses and the Cavaliers in battle, and the Montcalms, returned to their ancient

MANY TRIBUTES PAID CANADA

Newspapers in Britain Devote Great Space to Unveiling of Vimy War Memorial

Canadian Press
London, July 27.—The British Press carried many thousands of words on the ceremony of unveiling the Canadian War Memorial on Vimy Ridge yesterday.

Every important daily newspaper had long stories with, in some instances, whole pages devoted to pictures of the memorial, photos of Gen. Sir Arthur Currie, Lieut.-Gen. Richard Turner, V.C., and other prominent Canadian soldiers, and photos of the Canadians going into action at Vimy in 1917.

There were many pleasant references to the presence in London of Sir Robert Borden and Sir George Perley.

ABOVE NATIONALISM

The London Times, commenting on France's gift to Canada of the land on which the Dominion memorial stands, described the unveiling ceremony as "a fitting consecration."

"In such exchanges of territory there is a spirit which transcends nationalism," the paper said, "Henceforth Vimy Ridge is a possession freed from possessiveness. Occupied by the dead, it will stand as a message to the living."

COMMON PLEDGE

"Many French-Canadian names are among the 11,000 carved on the Memorial. (It bears the names of Canadians still listed as missing, who have no known grave). The centuries ago Britain and France fought each other for possession of the land whence these men came. Twenty years ago the two nations fought side by side in a common cause and were reinforced by the new nation which had sprung from the loins of both, conjoint in blood and in culture."

"And that third nation, while sharing the flag of one, was yet spending her blood equally in defence of the soil of the other. And so today the dead of all three rest on these slopes and make of them a common sanctuary and a common pledge."

MOVED BY IDEALS

"Today's ceremonies," said The Sunday Times, "have a deeper meaning than the perpetuation of the memory of a single battle or of the great contribution Canada made to the later victory in the west. The monument at Vimy is testimony for all time that men and nations are moved by ideals and are prepared to make all sacrifices in order to uphold causes they believe to be worthy and just."

"It was under no compulsion that the Dominions and colonies sent their sons to fight side by side with the soldiers of France and Britain. They responded to an inward call that told them something dearer than life was in jeopardy."

The Sunday Observer commented: "England and France fought on the Heights of Abraham for the possession of Canada. At Vimy Canadians, descendants of English and French pioneers, came home to fight for their motherland."

Test Called on Social Credit

P. J. Rowe, One of Party's M.P.'s, Demands Action in Alberta

Edmonton, July 27.—P. J. Rowe, Social Credit member of the House of Commons for Athabasca, was on record today that citizens of Alberta should "kick out" their government if it made any attempt to evade its responsibility of inaugurating a new economic system without giving a "reasonable explanation."

Speaking to 300 jobs here Saturday, Mr. Rowe announced he would submit a new economic plan to the provincial cabinet and government members.

He added he was developing a plan for Canada "which will be published shortly."

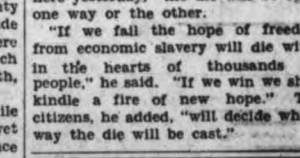

Mr. Rowe said the first step in the "entire interest payments" by the province, which amounted to $50,000,000, according to Premier Abernethy, and use of the money toward industrializing Alberta.

That money should be used for building plants to process Alberta's raw products, he stated.

IN SIX MONTHS

Calgary, July 27 (Canadian Press).—The next six months will decide whether Social Credit succeeds or fails in Alberta. Within that time, Provincial Secretary E. C. Manning told the Provincial Council here yesterday, "the die will be cast" one way or the other.

"If we fail the hope of freedom from economic slavery will die within the hearts of thousands of people," he said. "If we win we shall kindle a fire of new hope." The citizens, he added, "will decide which way the die will be cast."

In Europe

DR. NICHOLAS MURRAY BUTLER has returned from Europe convinced that the conflicting economic and political forces that have been operating since the World War are approaching a climax. For one thing, the power of many governments over there to borrow will probably be ended during the year 1937. This would intensify social as well as political troubles, with possibly "tragic results of great magnitude, unless measures are taken at once to deal with this world-wide economic situation."

The distinguished president of Columbia University formed his opinion after talks with statesmen, economists and other men of affairs in Europe. The economic crisis approaching in Europe may or may not cause war. No people in the world desires war; yet, Dr. Butler warns, dictators require constant emotional appeal to their constituencies in order to retain their influence and authority, and it may be that necessity on their part will result in armed conflict over some relatively insignificant happening, which, in turn, might quickly become a world-wide and appalling conflict, repeating the experience of 1914.

On the one hand, Dr. Butler found economic nationalism preventing the solution of dangerous economic problems in a constructive way; while, on the other hand, the world's buying power was being maintained by large-scale government borrowings to finance relief of unemployment, without which expenditures, he fears "an extremely grave situation, social, economic and political would certainly have arisen." But such expenditure of government money can provide no permanent remedy, being simply a palliative. The balancing of budgets is impracticable under existing conditions, as their balancing would only add so much more taxation, with the result of further reducing buying power and continuing and extending trade depression.

Because of this situation in Europe, Dr. Butler thinks it imperative that measures be taken without delay to restore the world's buying power and put it on a permanent basis. He believes one practical method "to prevent a world breakdown much more serious than any that has yet taken place," is to cause trade to expand in normal fashion by restoring confidence to the capital and credit markets of the world. Were this done and a freer movement of trade, capital and private credit established, there would be an immense increase in national incomes and in the buying power of the people. Budgets would be balanced within a reasonable time through the expansion of national incomes and by the reduction and expenditures for relief, which would thus be made possible.

It all seems rather obvious. But is Europe, with her age-long racial rivalries, really conditioned to accept the reasonableness of it? Or, is Europe determined to follow the course of economic nationalism through to the "tragic results" Dr. Butler speaks of?

Oxford Adopts Psychology

A NEW MILESTONE IN THE HISTORY of the science of psychology is set up with the news that Oxford has established an Institute of Experimental Psychology.

Psychology, as an exact science is very young. It was established as an independent experimental science only sixty-two years ago (1874) when Wilhelm Wundt published a certain important one of his nearly 500 works. Since then, however, much has been accomplished to add experimentally to the knowledge accumulated about the workings of the human mind. But for centuries Oxford has been the home of philosophy, and psychology has been there a part of philosophy.

"In the Middle Ages," Nature, British scientific journal, reminds us, "Roger Bacon and Duns Scotus, no mean psychologists, stand out among its scholars. In the seventeenth century, the 'father' of modern psychology, John Locke, author of the famous 'Essay Concerning Human Understanding,' was a student of Christ Church. . . . The foundation of this laboratory at Oxford is in a sense a historic event."

Although most scientists are now used to considering psychology as a full-fledged science in its own right, Oxford is really not many years behind the procession in this respect. When Dr. J. McKeen Cattell became professor of psychology at the University of Pennsylvania in 1888, he was the first occupant of the first chair of psychology in any university.

The word psychology, of Greek origin, means literally "science of the breath," and was given that meaning because the Greeks associated the breath with life itself. When they observed the breath leaving the body of a dying person, they felt that it went the soul. So the science of breath meant the science of the soul. Later when the soul came to have a different and more specifically religious meaning, psychology was called the science of the mind. Still later it became known as the science of consciousness. Much more recently it has been proposed that it should be called the science of behavior.

This development of the term psychology suggested the following witticism quoted by Dr. Samuel W. Fernberger, of the University of Pennsylvania, in his new book on "Elementary General Psychology": "Psychologists first lost their breath, then they lost their soul, then their mind, and now, with the developing interest in reactions, they are rapidly losing consciousness."

An Up-country Leader

WHEN MR. FRED J. FULTON, K.C., a former Attorney-General of British Columbia, died in Kamloops last Saturday this province and the country in general lost a sterling citizen and the legal profession a distinguished member. As a supporter of the late Sir Richard McBride, he occupied a seat in the British Columbia Legislature from 1900 until 1909, resigning in the latter year when he disagreed with his leader in connection with the guarantees for the construction of the Canadian Northern Pacific Railway. In 1917 he successfully contested the federal riding of Cariboo, and went to Ottawa as a supporter of the Union Government, under the leadership of Sir Robert Borden. He had lived in Kamloops for nearly half a century.

The late Mr. Fulton was an ardent sportsman. Few better than he knew the hills and lakes in that wide area of which Kamloops is the centre. He was an excellent shot and skilled with rod and line, while until comparatively recently he seldom missed an opportunity of demonstrating his prowess on the golf course. From its inception, Mr. Fulton took part in the annual Pacific Northwest Seniors' tournament in Victoria. It was on these occasions that he could mingle with his contemporaries of earlier days. Incidentally, he was a moving spirit in the formation of a golf club in Kamloops, and contributed substantially to its success; indeed, every progressive movement in the community in which he lived for so many years always could count upon the wholehearted support of Mr. Fulton. He possessed fine qualities of heart and mind, was the soul of honor, and his friends were legion.

Our "Tropical Valley" Goes

DR. CHARLES CAMSELL, HAS taken away our tropical valley, or tropical "lost world," which none of us had seen, but which all of us had been brought up to believe existed in northern British Columbia. It has been more than a legend with us that there existed such a region, where vegetation and fruits of the south grew luxuriantly and prehistoric animals and fauna of the tropics flourished, shielded from a surrounding area that was semi-arctic. This unimaginative, scientific-minded deputy minister of mines for Canada now simply says there is no such place.

In his Maiben lecture before the American Association for the Advancement of Science the other day, Dr. Camsell told how last August he led an airplane expedition which covered 4,000 miles, trying to find the so-called "tropical valley." But without success. Although the legend had persisted for many years, it was found to be "pure fiction." Dr. Camsell was unceremoniously exploded it. With its passing we shall miss those stories brought back at intervals by adventurers, who were able not only to fascinate, but convince us.

However, Dr. Camsell has not robbed the northern interior of its lure. For the adventurous geographer and scientist, he reports there are vast unexplored areas. The Mackenzie Mountains, greatest single mountain group in the whole of Canada, are to a large extent unexplored and their structure and history unknown. They commence at latitude 60 degrees immediately west of Liard River and extend northward and then northward for about 600 miles as a gradually broadening belt of mountains about 300 miles wide. Dr. Camsell pronounces them the most difficultly accessible region in the whole of Canada and predicts they will probably be one of the last parts of the continent to be accurately mapped.

Notes

As things look to us sometimes, the best thing we can do for posterity is not to let it get here.

If we saw some great men in the news reels and did not know they were great, how silly they would seem.

Correct this sentence: "You look quite charming, mother," said the youth of sixteen, "in your new shorts."

"We are at the crossing point in the history of the world,"—Nicholas Murray Butler. Or, the double-crossing point?

First we violate nature. Then we invent a method to overcome the tragic result of that folly. And we call it progress.

There are two sides to every question, unless—as The Toronto Star reminds us—it is a League of Nations question, when there are fifty.

Particularly interesting to British Columbia as a major lumber supplier is the fact that the most salubrious gains have occurred in the one-family house field, according to construction industry reports covering the United States market. Last year the single-family house accounted for about 76 per cent of the total expenditures for the erection of new housing units. The ratio for 1935 becomes the more important when considered from the standpoint that it represents a total of some 55,000 new houses in the amount of almost $320,000,000 for the thirty-seven states east of the Rocky Mountains. Current records on new residential building indicate that last year's proportion for the one-family house has been slightly bettered during the first six months of 1936; nor is there now any reason to believe that for the full year 1936 any material lowering in the ratio under current levels will be registered. This trend in construction holds good for Canada, too.

QUEER PEOPLE

MR. MACPHERSON, the Minister of Public Works, was complaining to me the other day about the way British Columbia people continually knock their own roads to foreigners. Everywhere a foreigner goes, Mr. MacPherson says, the local residents sympathize with him immediately on the appalling conditions of travel in British Columbia. This is particularly true on Vancouver Island, where the visitor is never allowed to forget that the roads are miserable and that he is a brave man to come here at all. Whereas the island roads are the best west of Winnipeg and quite good enough for anybody unless he wants to drive sixty miles an hour all the time.

That, I suppose, is the trouble—people do want to drive sixty miles an hour all the time, and on the main highways today you may perceive the curious sight of the island residents almost always driving much faster than the speed-loving American visitors, who, to give them their due, seem to be pausing long enough to enjoy the scenery. The ideal of the modern driver, of course, is to cover as much distance in the shortest time and that is why most of our people, when seeking a holiday, turn to California. Mr. MacPherson is trying to give British Columbia a paved road to the interior coast people, but he is not sure that many coast people will use it. He thinks most of them will still go south.

The ideas of the modern motor camper are peculiar. Judging by the advertisements in the magazines for caravans equipped with refrigerators and for radios and gasoline stoves that will fit into the smallest rumble seat, the main object of camping out as possible the conditions of an apartment in town. Millions of bold Americans, lured by the primitive instinct of the outdoors, are moving their apartments to the country, cooking on stoves and taking their butter out of refrigerators and listening to the quiet gurgle of a woodland stream with ear and Amos 'n' Andy on the radio with the other.

It would be far cheaper and accomplish the same result if they were to sit out on the lawn in the city or even on the fire escape. But so long as they think they are camping and spend their money in this curious fashion, it is all right with us. No one who likes the wilderness ever goes on the main road anyway. He wrecks his car on the side roads and likes it.

VALUES

"THIS TOWN," said Gladys, the stenog. "is peculiar. I mean in its sense of values and importance and all that, if you know what I mean. You take when any big politician or business man comes here he makes a great fuss over him. They give him luncheons and receptions and all that kind of thing. But lately, we've had a lot of movie stars from Hollywood here and this town hardly seems to take any notice of them at all. It's what I call a false sense of value."

"Why, if this was an up-and-going place like Vancouver the people would go crazy over these actors. I bet Gerry McGee would have himself in pictures on the front page shaking hands with them and all that, but we'd rather give a luncheon to some stogy old general. But what I was going to say was when this young star Whatsisname—I never can remember any of their names but Clark Gable—was here the other day they made a picture of him racing in a speed boat with a picture of him racing past him and Whatsisname spray all rushing past him and Whatsisname looking as if he were on the verge of death every minute. And you know when they took the picture the boat wasn't moving at all. It was tied up to a wharf. And there was Thingamabob with his teeth gritted and his chin out looking like a hero."

"I mean, I'll never see him again but I'll think of that boat tied up to the wharf. It's disillusioning, if you know what I mean. After you've formed a picture of a man in your mind it sort of takes the edge off things."

FLEAS

A MAN who holds a high position in the state stopped me on the street today and held me like the Ancient Mariner, with his glittering eye. Said he: "You write absurd pieces in the paper about collecting turtles and crawfish. Why don't you go in for something worth while? Why don't you go in for fleas?"

"You mean fleas?" I said aghast.

"Certainly," he said. "Why, there is a family of people I know up the island who make a good living collecting fleas."

"It must be rather uncomfortable," I said.

"Not that way," said he. "They collect them scientifically and sell them. In England there's a huge laboratory, financed by the Rothschilds, which does nothing but experiment on fleas. They've been doing it for years and they like to get them from Vancouver island because the quality of the island flea is very high."

"That is gratifying," I said, edging away.

"Of course," said he, "you have to be an expert. There is no use you going out and trying to collect fleas."

"I suppose," I said, "I shall just have to give up the idea then."

"Yes, you see, every animal has a different flea so the variety is enormous. Perhaps you haven't noticed the difference?"

"I admitted I hadn't."

"Oh, it's fascinating when you get into the better varieties. Now you take the flea that lives on our island cougars."

"The cougars?" I said, "can keep them," but he grabbed me by the arm as I was about to sink off.

"It fetches a high price, the cougar flea, because he's hard to catch. First, you must have the cougar, and that's not easy, because the cougar must be dead. Did you ever know that the instant an animal dies the fleas leave it? Oh, yes, instantly. So when you have shot your cougar—"

"But I don't shoot cougars."

"You must leap on it immediately and capture your flea. An expert, like these people up the island, can sometimes get half a dozen fleas on one cougar, but that is a big haul and they have to work fast. I advise you to concentrate on one or two until you have mastered the method. Now, after you have the cougar dead, leap on it."

"But I don't want a cougar? I don't want a flea."

"Just what I thought," said he. "You are merely a dilettante. You just write things. You don't do them. You're the kind of man who would keep tropical fish when this country has the finest fleas in the world."

He stalked off with disgust and I slunk away.

ONE WANDERER RETURNS

To the Editor—Thank you very much for publishing my letter about books that have been lent and have not been returned. I got a very precious one back today. It was "The Teller," by Edward Noyes Westcott. I am still hoping that at least some of the others I have lent will find their way home.

A SCANDINAVIAN SPEAKS UP

To the Editor:—Let me inform some of the British-Israelites here in Victoria that the Scandinavians are not related to the Belgians or the French, because the Belgians and French belong to the Latin race, like the Italians and Spaniards, Portuguese and the Romanians.

The Scandinavians belong to the Teutonic-Germanic race and have nothing to do with the Latin races.

THINKS MERCHANTS IMPOSED UPON

To the Editor:—On Saturday, July 18, the Civil Service Sports Club held their annual picnic at The Chalet, at Deep Cove.

There is no reason why civil servants should not enjoy the pleasures of an annual picnic like any other group of citizens. There would, however, seem to be very good reason for criticism of the civil servants of the provincial government in their method of raising the finances for this picnic.

According to their programme issued on that occasion, thirty business firms, wholesale and retail, appear to have been implored for donations and since the organization extends its thanks to these merchants and others, apparently they were successful in obtaining support from these firms.

Of all classes in the community employees of the civil service at the present time are in an infinitely happier position than the general run of tradesmen, storekeepers and professional men, in as much as in these distressing times they are receiving adequate salaries and have security of employment, pensions, and other advantages which are not available to other citizens who have to struggle for a livelihood, and, incidentally, maintain the highly priced officials of the government service. To me, putting it mildly, it appears to be an imposition that civil servants, in view of their fortunate position, should have to cede among the merchants of Victoria for donations, and I would suggest that departmental heads at the Parliament Buildings should take steps to put an end to this practice.

C.C.F. AND BRUCE HUTCHISON

To the Editor:—It was with regret that we received the recent remarks of Bruce Hutchison concerning the recently-adopted C.C.F. platform, as it was a sad day for this movement when Mr. Hutchison as one from whom we could expect intelligent and informed criticism.

Mr. Hutchison says the platform is "Aberthartism." The principle of Aberthartism is that a form of scrip or credit be issued without taking care to ensure that commodities will be produced to meet that scrip or credit. The C.C.F. platform enunciates a principle directly opposite to that—that the first consideration must be the production of commodities under the control of the government. When that has been done it will be time to consider the issuing of some form of scrip or government receipt to facilitate exchange of those goods within the province.

We cannot imagine that Mr. Hutchison, as a fair-minded and intelligent critic, will find fault with that principle. He would not, we imagine, wish to see, say, the fruit of the Okanagan rotting on the ground and, say, the products of the cities rusting in the warehouses because of the lack of a means of exchanging these commodities? If the B.N.A. Act calls for such stupidity, then the people of this province will have to decide whether the B.N.A. Act was made for them, or the people for the B.N.A. Act. But we would be intensely interested to learn from Mr. Hutchison the precise clause in the act which prohibits the use of a simple means of exchange, since we took care in drawing up the platform to remain strictly within the constitution.

Mr. Hutchison makes reference to "sane" platforms which were before the C.C.F. We would ask him to examine these platforms a little further and tell us whether he honestly considers that we would be able to get money from Ottawa for minor reforms when Mr. Pattullo is unable to obtain money for that same purpose. We believe it would be political opportunism of the worst sort to lead the people to believe any such thing. We do not intend to do so. We tell the people frankly that until they take control, through their government, of the sources of wealth production in this province, they will be unable to reap the rewards of that wealth.

Mr. Hutchison says that if we wish to get elected we will unload the present platform. It will be a sad day for this movement when Mr. Hutchison as one from whom we could expect intelligent and informed criticism.

WOULD BE NEW UNDER THE SUN

From the New York Herald Tribune
On its surface the proposed new Soviet constitution suggests implications as broad as they are startling. Its form would intimate that the Stalin dictatorship has found itself either ready to or compelled to invite the Russian people as a whole into the councils of government. This, especially if the act were voluntary, would be assuredly something new under the sun. But when in history has a despotism relinquished its grip of its own accord?

DOGS FOR THE BLIND

The dog's instinct for self-preservation, amplified by instruction, acts as a double check against endangering the life and limb of the master. In a situation calling for decision it is her—the females excel as guides—judgment that sets the pace, her eyes that select the course.

It is a safe prophecy that the day is not far distant when a four-footed legion guiding those from whose eyes the light has failed will be maintained wherever there is need. Nearly

Flower Show Next Week-end

Many New Classes in Annual Event of Victoria Horticultural Society

The Victoria Horticultural Society will hold its thirteenth annual summer show in the main building at the Willows on Friday and Saturday next. The official opening will take place on Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock. His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, patron of the local society, will perform this ceremony.

Those in charge of the arrangements are looking forward to a very successful show, particularly from an exhibitive standpoint. Everything possible is being done by the society to meet the needs of all kinds of exhibitors. Quite a number of classes have been added solely for new exhibitors.

The prize list, as issued by the society, has classified 100 classes in the floral section, and nearly another 100 for fruits and vegetables.

Good competition is expected for the society's three perpetual trophies for floral displays. The David J. Angus trophy is now held by the W.A. to the local society.

The Satin Glo trophy for fifty square feet of potted plants, now held by J. Naysmith, is another popular class. The decorated tables should also prove an attractive feature. The judging of these will be done by artificial light, and a limit has been set that ornaments must cost not over twenty-five cents.

The society offers for the first time the Landsberg trophy subscribed for by individual members; this goes for the best collection of vegetables. In addition to the competitive exhibits and non-competitive display, ample accommodation for added features on both days of the show is promised by the committee.

Prize lists can be obtained at all floral stores or by telephoning to the secretary, F. P. Boulter, E 0490, who will gladly mail one by return.

Ahiers Wins Garden Awards

Complete Results of Victoria Horticultural Society's Contest Out

After three years of endeavor, Vernon Ahiers achieved his ambition today when the judges announced that his garden at 3228 Seaton Road had won the main award in the annual garden contest of the Victoria Horticultural Society.

Mr. Ahiers scored 348 points to top the list in A division for gardens over 7,200 square feet. He was 21 points above C. Richards, 414 Simcoe Street, who placed second and 35 points above A. H. Nunns, 3125 Somerset Street, who was third.

Twice now Mr. Ahiers has been within an ace of winning. In 1934 he placed second in the competition, while last year he dropped to third place, although he scored more points than on the previous year.

Mr. Ahiers will receive the challenge cup of the society and cash prize as well.

G. Davis, 2429 Dunlevy Street, won the award for gardens under 7,200 square feet, with 334 points out of the possible 400. He stepped up from second place last year. Mrs. J. Barzil, 2317 Tenison Avenue, was second with 274 points.

In the class C for gardens of any size in which occasional paid help is allowed the results were as follows: 1. F. T. Rawlins, 169 Beach Drive, 298 points; 2. A. S. Derman, 501 Obed Avenue, 252 points; 3. A. E. Powell, 235 Maddock Avenue, 250 points.

The entry list in the competition this year was said to be the largest for some time. The judges, E. W. White, of the Department of Agriculture, and George Robinson, Elk Lake, declared that the gardeners had set a high standard.

BE ALERT FOR PSYCHICS

Declarer Fooled by Freak Bid and Loses Contract When Opponent Gets in a Ruff as Setter

By WM. E. MCKENNEY

Successful psychic bids are extremely rare, although they seem to have regained some of the popularity which was theirs in the early days of contract, when bidding was pretty much of a hit-or-miss proposition. Today it is generally quite easy to uncover a psychic, and the opposition is rarely fooled; but sometimes such a bid may be disregarded by opposing players who are out after bigger game. It was for that reason alone that East's psychic was a success in today's hand.

SOLUTION TO PREVIOUS CONTRACT PROBLEM

Of course, the thing that East had so carefully planned with the bidding of a void suit came to pass. West opened the ace of hearts, East ruffed, cashed the ace of spades, and the contract was set.

The result could easily have been

GENN—RIVERS
On Saturday evening at a very quiet ceremony St. Mary's Church at 8 o'clock Rev. Canon A. E. del. Nunn united in marriage, Kathleen Ann Rivers, youngest daughter of Mrs. D. W. Davies, 1147 Fort Street, and Mr. Kenneth Reginald Genn, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Genn, 727 Moss Street.

Given in marriage by Mr. D. W. Davies, the bride was attired in a smart tailored suit of cream serge, with which she wore a pink tassel straw hat trimmed with moss rosebuds, and a corsage bouquet of white carnations and pink rosebuds. She was attended by her sister, Mrs. J. C. Hilton, and the bridegroom was supported by Mr. Stanley Hearna.

Following the marriage service the wedding party adjourned to the home of the bridegroom's parents, where toasts to the bride and bridegroom were honored.

Mr. and Mrs. Genn are spending a few weeks cruising around Vancouver Island and the Gulf Islands, and will later make their home in Victoria.

CANNON—TURNER
A marriage was solemnized in Port Angeles on Thursday, July 23, between Margaret V. (Mollie) Turner, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Turner, 1605 Dueson Street, and Mr. Fred C. Cannon, son of Mr. M. Cannon and the late Mr. Cannon, 1122 Queen's Avenue. After a short honeymoon Mr. and Mrs. Cannon will reside in Victoria.

SPANKIE—BARRETT-LEONARD
At a quiet ceremony at Christ Church Cathedral, Vancouver, at 11:30 o'clock Saturday morning, Margaret Kinnaird, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Barrett-Leonard, became the bride of Mr. Donald Frederick Spankie, only son of Dr. and Mrs. E. J. Spankie. The marriage services were read by Very Rev. Dean R. Armitage.

Against a flower tracery of sweet peas and white phlox along the chancel rail, the bride and groom stood unattended. Mr. Barrett-Leonard gave his daughter in marriage, and the wedding music was played by Mr. Frederick Chubb. The bride's two-piece tailored frock of soft triple sheer, British tan in tone, featured a suggestion of the shirt-maker mode in its simplicity of design, accented by vertical lines on the short-sleeved bodice from high neck to waistline. The short jacket, wide at the hem and in its elbow-length sleeves, sponsored a collar of salmon pink pique as its only contrasting color. Bands of the pique edged with biased scalloping followed the lapels of the coat to its hemline, and the wide sleeves at their cuffs.

Her wide-brimmed sailor model hat was of matching British tan, as were her shoes and gloves, and her corsage bouquet, caught to her belt, was a cluster of summer flowers, salmon pink in tone. Her only ornament was a diamond and platinum brooch, a gift of the groom.

Mrs. Barrett-Leonard, mother of the bride, wore a tailored gown of fuchsia-blue in heavy self-striped crepe, its rich shade echoed in a shaded cluster of mauve and pink sweet peas in a corsage bouquet. Her wide-brimmed hat matched her dress. Mrs. Spankie, the groom's mother, was in a frock of figured print in a black and white pattern worn with a wide-brimmed hat of black straw and a corsage bouquet of gardenias.

Following a reception to immediate friends and relatives at the home of the bride's parents on Nicola Street, Vancouver, Mr. and Mrs. Spankie left on an extended wedding trip to the south.

Your Baby's Health

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN

Not infrequently a child is born with a weak place in the wall of the abdomen which results sometimes, even at birth, in the appearance of what scientists call hernia, and what the public commonly calls a rupture.

The rupture usually is seen as a swelling, because the intestines or other materials within the abdomen have pushed their way through the weak place in the muscle-wall.

The most common place for ruptures to appear in babies is in the middle line around the navel. In older children ruptures usually are seen in the groin, and not infrequently in boys they may push down into the genitals.

When the child coughs or cries or strains, the rupture is seen more easily because of the pressure which develops in the abdominal cavity. If the child lies down and stops straining, the material in the rupture will disappear or can be pushed back easily.

One way to prevent ruptures at the navel is to make certain the abdomen is given extra support during the first few months. For this reason an abdominal band is worn. Babies may wear this band for five or six months, if the doctor indicates necessity for it.

Rupture in the groin are much more serious than those in the middle line of the abdomen. A child with such a rupture should be under the immediate care of a doctor, who will advise the proper procedure to be followed.

Various devices have been developed for controlling ruptures, including usually a simple pad over which a piece of tightly drawn adhesive tape is placed. This should always be arranged by the doctor, since it is possible with the wrong kind of a pad to enlarge the opening, rather than to aid its closure.

In cases of whooping cough in young babies, it is desirable occasionally to put on an abdominal binder quite soon, because of the danger of rupture due to the increased strain brought about by constant coughing.

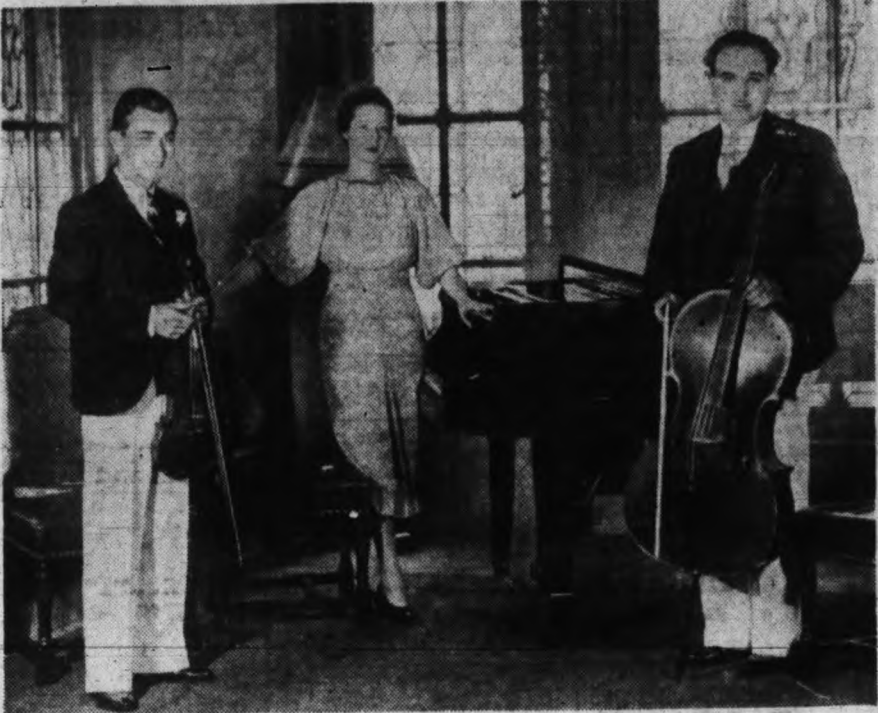

Rupture is a fairly frequent condition among adult Americans. Ruptures in the groin were found in 5.1 per cent of 17,000 men who were given periodic physical examinations.

A rupture is an injury which may be corrected without much trouble if it is seen, diagnosed and treated early. If it lasts for a long time, however, suitable care becomes more and more difficult.

Tillsonburg, Ont., July 27.—Harry Hewitt and his sister, both of Langton, Ont., leaped through a mass of flames to safety when their motorcar caught fire as they were filling the gasoline tank at a highway garage Saturday night. The car was standing near a pump connected to a 4,000-gallon tank of gasoline, but the garage owner was able to push the vehicle down a bank to avert an explosion.

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

AVOID TOO SUDDEN CHANGE IN BABY'S DIET

When the mother is intent upon changing her baby from one type of formula to another, there are certain methods which are apt to be more successful than just an abrupt change. For instance, in changing from breast to bottle, it is advisable to give the baby just one bottle a day for the first week; then two, then three, until by these slow steps the baby eventually becomes a "bottle" baby.

Such a method avoids digestive disturbance and any unhappy psychological wrench which any baby might feel who was being divorced prematurely from an old familiar way of feeding.

WATCH BABY'S REACTIONS

In changing, let us say, from a lactic acid to a sweet milk formula, or from an evaporated to a pasteurized formula, it is advisable to use the same cautious methods. It is possible to substitute one kind of formula for another, as far as nutritional elements are concerned, but the whole new formula should be divided by the number of feedings per day, and just one bottle given for the first week, and so on, as described above.

This gives the baby an opportunity to display his reaction to the new food. If it is an unhappy one then the disturbance will be relatively mild and the mother can abandon the one bottle and wait for a more propitious time to offer it.

TOO MUCH CAUTION

Mrs. H. H. writes that she has been told she may substitute one ounce of a pasteurized milk formula for one ounce of evaporated milk and by these slow degrees eventually get the baby on pasteurized milk alone.

While it is possible to do this, it seems a useless waste of time to prepare only one or two or three ounces of a new formula in order to incorporate it into an old one. One bottle at a time is as cautious as such changes need be.

Readers may have leaflets on any type of formula to compare with the ones they are using. Ask for evaporated, lactic acid or sweet milk formulas. Any will be sent you for only a self-addressed and three-cent stamped envelope, sent to Myrtle Meyer Eldred of the "Your Baby and Mine" department of this newspaper.

Tomorrow: Mrs. Eldred answers questions for mother of three-months-old baby.

AGRICULTURIST OF GUELPH KILLED

Smithville, Ont., July 27.—One of Canada's leading agriculturists, Prof. William John Squirell, fifty-six, of the Ontario Agriculture College, Guelph, is dead. He was fatally injured in an automobile collision near here Saturday evening. Smithville is fifteen miles southwest of Hamilton.

Mrs. Gertrude Squirell, fifty-four, his wife, is in a Hamilton hospital in a critical condition. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Noonan of Toronto were injured. The Squirell car collided head-on with that of Noonan's. Prof. Squirell was head of the field husbandry department of the Ontario Agricultural College, and was responsible for the development of a number of new varieties of grains and other crops produced at the college.

There are indications that wheat was first cultivated in what is now Ethiopia, according to a Russian scientist.

Australians Take Doubles From British In Davis Cup Tennis

THE SPORTS MIRROR

By PETE SALLAWAY

WHEN THE CREAM of Canada's golfers start shooting at the national amateur crown at Winnipeg August 4, the most renowned among them will be firing at something more than a single championship. C. Ross Somerville, dour Scot of the London, Ont., Hunt Club, will be aiming at another rung in the ladder he must climb to equal or surpass the all-time record of eight Canadian amateur titles won by the "grand old man" of golf, George S. Lyon, Toronto.

The thirty-two-year-old Somerville will strive to defend the championship and the Grey Cup he already has held five times. Lyon established his record within a space of seventeen years, and "Sandy," who won his first title in 1926, has another seven national tournaments in which to equal or better the eight victories within that time.

Lyon, still a top-flight golfer despite the fact he is many years over the veterans' limit, won his first amateur crown in 1898 and his last in 1914. In addition to his eight victories, he was runner-up twice.

Somerville, an outstanding athlete in rugby football, cricket and hockey in his college days, first won the amateur championship in 1926. He won again in 1928 and repeated in 1930 and 1931. He scored his fifth and last year at the Hamilton Golf and Country Club, "Sandy" has been a finalist on three other occasions.

London's "silent Scot" has the constant game necessary to survive the keen competition he is certain to face in the five days of the impending tournament over the St. Charles Country Club course. His steel nerves under all conditions have earned Somerville recognition as one of the world's best amateur shot-makers.

Somerville reached the peak of his achievements in 1932, when he defeated Johnny Goodman of Omaha in the final of the United States amateur tournament. In 1933, he reached the fifth round of the British amateur before losing to George Dunlop, New York. His game has not fallen off since then.

The defeat of Discovery in the Stars and Stripes Handicap at Arlington Park once more illustrates the truth of the title, but true, saying, "Weight will stop a train."

It does more than that, for it proves how difficult the way is for the really great horses.

The Stars and Stripes is a handicap not unlike hundreds of others now being carded on American tracks. Thoroughbreds must carry such weights as are consistent with their performances.

Hypothetically, two animals may each be able to run a mile in 1:30. The difference is that one will do it under 135 pounds. He will run slightly faster with less aboard. The other cannot achieve that speed unless he is in at 100 pounds or less.

The theory of the handicap is that you weight the steeds in such a manner that each, theoretically at least, has an equal chance. The actual race, plus the slight variation in the condition of the individual horses, luck, etc., then determine the winner.

However, you can't blame young Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt and trainer Buddy Boller for threatening to take Discovery out of racing if he isn't treated more leniently. Neither can they be criticized if they feel that the handicappers are keeping Discovery out of the winner's column — and more or less deliberately.

Crawford-Quist Win Match After Four Stiff Sets

Beat Hughes and Tuckey 6-4, 2-6, 7-5, 10-8 to Remain in Running

FINAL SINGLES ON TOMORROW

Canadian Press
Wimbledon, July 27.—Australia's team remained in the running today in their fight to capture the Davis Cup tennis title from Great Britain as Jack Crawford and Adrian Quist defeated Pat Hughes and Charles Tuckey in the doubles match of the challenge round series, 6-4, 2-6, 7-5, 10-8.

Britain opened her defence of the title by winning both singles matches Saturday. Thus she still held a 2 to 1 advantage in matches.

The Aussies must win both remaining singles matches tomorrow in order to win the series. Crawford and Quist, who so far have done all the playing for the antipodeans, fought a prolonged and strenuous battle in defeating the seasoned British pair in four sets.

After dropping the first set at 6-4, the British pair began to find their form. Tuckey proved almost impassable at the net, and they allowed the Aussies only two games. Games went with service in the third set until Hughes dropped his in the eleventh game. That proved the turning point, and enabled Crawford and Quist to take the set at 7-5.

After a ten-minute interval Hughes and Tuckey appeared refreshed. They led 3-0 in the fourth set and then 4-1. Then Tuckey became erratic, he put a series of backhand shots into the net and the Australians pulled up to 3-5 and then captured Tuckey's deadly service for the first time in the ninth game for 4-5.

Crawford retained his and the challengers broke through Tuckey again to go ahead at 9-5. They won the next game, the set at 10-8 and the match.

HUNTER BAGS LARGE COUGAR

Dennis Yates, twenty-year-old resident of Becher Bay, was $20 richer today after collecting the bounty for bagging a large cougar Saturday morning not far from his home. The cougar had been molesting sheep for some time.

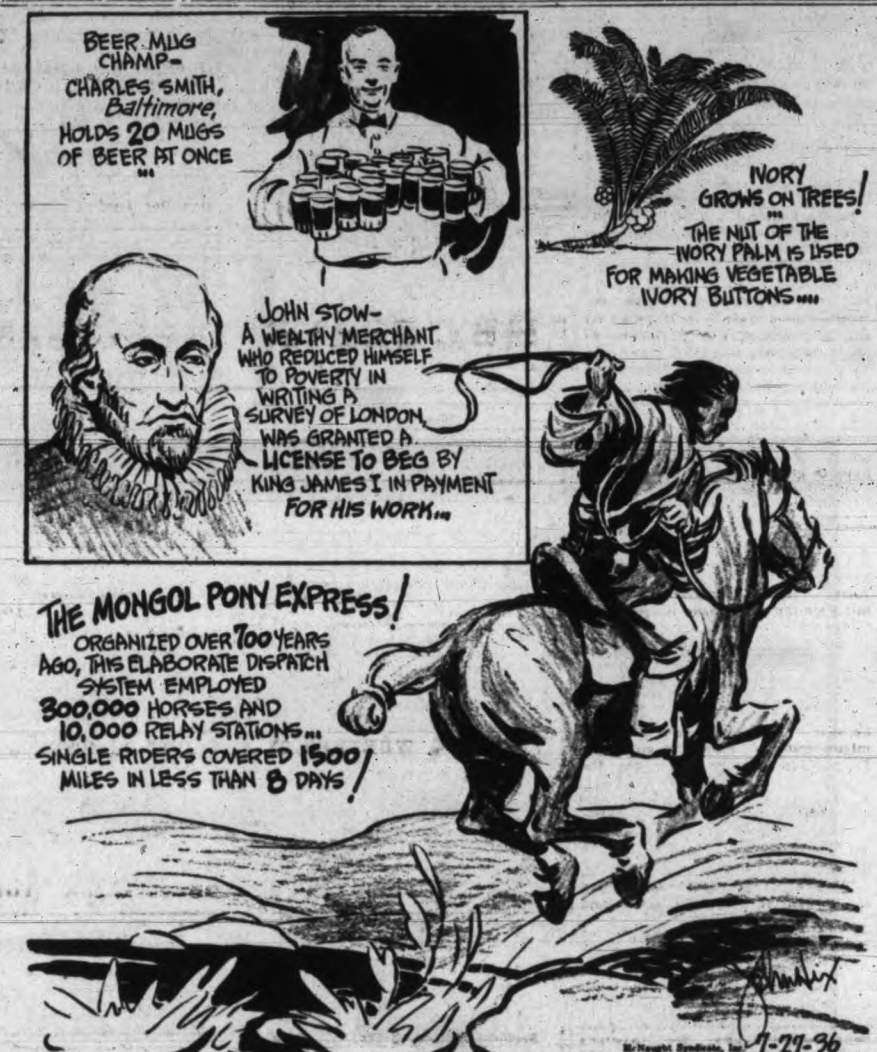

Dennis was eating his breakfast when he heard a commotion in the yard and his small collie commenced barking. He rushed out and saw his dog chasing the cougar. Dennis hurried back into the house for his rifle and going out again found the dog had treed the cougar. Dennis killed it with his second shot.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS

—By John Hix

Inaugurated by Jenghis Kahn, twelfth century Mongol Emperor, as a means of bringing news of emergencies and important dispatches from distant points of his empire, it was not until the reign of Kublai Khan, in the thirteenth century, that the elaborate "Mongol Pony Express" reached its fullest stage of development.

Galloping at breakneck speed from station to station where fresh, ready-saddled horses awaited to wear him onward, the dispatch rider of the Khan rode tremendous distances in a single day, sometimes covering as much as 150 miles without rest. Riders of the California Pony Express rode only about thirty-three miles each trip, passing the mail pouch on to the next man at the termination of his ride.

Both the Mongol and California riders risked their lives on each trip for bandits and thieves preyed upon the riders of the Yarn and Indians and highwaymen stalked the trail of the riders of the Pony Express.

Gains Odd-fall Over Pat Fraley to Win Main Wrestling Match Saturday

Dropping his opponent with a drop-kick and then pressing him to the mat in the fourth round, "jumping" Joe Savoldi, who hails from Michigan, gained the odd fall over Pat Fraley, from Nebraska, in the main event on Saturday evening's wrestling card at the Tillamook gym.

Flooring Fraley with a number of well-directed flying tackles in the second round, Savoldi gained the opening fall. Fraley evened up with his clever flying stepover toehold in the next session.

Pat Meehan, Edmonton, secured the odd fall over Pat Maloney, Boston, in the semi-windup. With the match standing one all apiece, the Edmonton lad dropped his opponent with a series of drop kicks and then pressed him for the winning fall in the fourth round.

Al Garnot fought to a one-fall draw over Bill Steen in the opener. Johnny Pears refereed.

SOCCER MATCH ENDS IN DRAW

Teams from H.M.S. Apollo and R.C.N. Give Fine Exhibition of Football

Featured by some smart football, soccer eleven from the visiting H.M.S. Apollo and the Royal Canadian Navy played to a one-all draw yesterday evening at the Royal Athletic park in the annual match for the Naval Veterans' trophy.

On the suggestion of Alderman James Adam, the match will be replayed when the British ship returns here the last week in August.

The score was every indication of an evenly-contested match, and while the left wing of the visitors turned in a fine exhibition to feature the play for the sailors from the Apollo, it was no more spectacular than the steady and often brilliant defence of Dick Caldwell in the net for the Royal Canadian Navy.

Out of the game for nearly two seasons due to injuries, Caldwell staged a fine comeback in making many fine saves.

The match did not reach its high of excitement until late in the final half, when the R.C.N. equalized, then play speeded up as each team endeavored to break the deadlock.

Twenty-five minutes from the kick-off, Acford, brilliant inside left for the visitors, took a pass from Brown on the wing and scored with a hard shot from outside the penalty area.

The R.C.N. boys had a number of excellent chances during the initial half, but Lockyer, young net-minder for the visitors, handled everything the R.C.N. had to offer.

Tommy Watt, local center forward, tied the score late in the final stanza when, taking a pass from De Costa on the run, he shot the ball to the corner of the net. Lockyer made a great effort to save the shot, but the ball touched the tips of his fingers and glanced into the net.

A McKinnon refereed and the teams were:

Chicago Baseball Crowd Gets Rough

Hurl Over 100 Missiles on Field During Game Between New York Yankees and White Sox; Umpire Bill Summers Struck by Pop Bottle; $5,000 Reward for Identity of Thrower

Day by day as these dizzy pennant chases head for the stretch, it becomes increasingly difficult to see anything but a New York-Chicago world's series for this fall.

Yesterday a full Sunday schedule of fifteen major league games saw such incidents as these:

An umpire was knocked out of a game by a pop bottle thrown by a fan in the New York Yankees-Chicago White Sox meeting.

Mickey Cochrane announced he was importing young blood to his limping Detroit Tigers and benching at least one of his veterans.

The New York Giants reached third place in their National League comeback, and the Brooklyn Dodgers dropped the Pittsburgh Pirates to fourth with a doubleheader victory.

The pop-bottle-throwing climaxed a riotous doubleheader in which the Yankees, aided by Lou Gehrig's twenty-ninth and thirtieth homers, snapped definitely out of their hitting laxity and knocked off another challenger by taking the White Sox 12 to 3 and 11 to 8 to stretch their American League lead to nine and a half games.

Fans, angered by a decision in the ninth inning of the nightcap, which went eleven frames, hurled more than 100 missiles down on the field.

$5,000 REWARD.

The bottle hit Umpire Bill Summers in the groin and forced him out of action. Baseball's High Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis immediately offered a $5,000 reward for information concerning the thrower.

Hele, as two hits by Buckey Walters of the Phillies for a 4 to 0 setback in the opener, the Chicago Cubs took sweet revenge in the nightcap with six homers, eighteen other assorted hits, and an 18 to 5 triumph.

The St. Louis Cardinals, nosed out 4 to 3 by the Boston Bees in the first game, slugged similarly behind Dizzy Dean's pitching in the nightcap for an 8 to 5 decision.

Jimmy Fox of the Boston Red Sox belted two homers to set the pace for a 10 to 3 win over the Tigers.

The Brooklyn Dodgers did another flip-flop in form, and staged two ninth-inning rallies to win a pair of pitchers' duels with the Pirates and club the Bees into fourth place. Van Mungo took the opener, 1 to 0, and Ed Brandt the nightcap, 4 to 3, each with a five-hit performance.

The Giants, who split with the Cincinnati Reds, winning 5 to 4 and losing 5 to 2, found themselves back in third place by these developments.

A twenty-hit attack behind Buck Ross's six-hit flinging gave the Philadelphia Athletics 13 to 0 victory over the Indians but Cleveland came back to slug out an 8 to 5 decision.

The Washington Senators walloped the St. Louis Browns, 9 to 2, in the opener. They took a 9 to 3 beating in the second game.

COAST LEAGUE

Sacramento's habit of spoiling Sundays for its opponents cropped up in Seattle yesterday with result Dutch Reuther's men lost two contests and were only three games ahead of Oakland in the Coast League race today.

The Senators, who have won more games on Sunday than any other day, slapped down the league-leaders 7 to 6 and 10 to 4 yesterday. Oakland held its own by dividing with Portland in their marathon series, 7 to 7, 7 to 2.

Los Angeles knocked over San Francisco's Bees in two games, edging out a 6 to 3 win in eleven innings, and copping the short game, 11 to 4.

The San Francisco Missions prevailed over San Diego in the first game, 4 to 1, but the Padres took the nightcap, 3 to 1.

Those long-cherished hopes of a new court house for Victoria were slowly suffocating under the fumes of paint as the grey stone structure which houses the higher courts here neared the completion of its periodic clean-up and renovation activity. The Supreme and County Court Registry was halted in its work and was rapidly assuming a brighter tone as officials of the office strove manfully to regain the ordered sequence of law books disarranged during the process of late summer cleaning. Patching was done in other sections of the building, but no major alterations were undertaken.

SCORES CITY'S LOGGING PLAN

Proposed Sooke Contract Would Mean Heavy Loss, D. O. Cameron Claims

Letting of the contract by the city for the selective logging of the Sooke Lake watershed on the terms recommended by the water board is being protested to the city by D. O. Cameron, Victoria lumberman.

Mr. Cameron claims the approval of the tender will mean a heavy loss to the city. The following reasons are noted in his protest:

"First," he said, "there was only one tender received and I take it the reason for this was one could not tender intelligently on this lumber, poles and piling because the information contained in the specifications did not furnish sufficient information."

"Secondly, the tender for cedar poles and piling was entirely too low, as I pointed out to members of the water board last Friday."

"The tender submitted, as I understand it, is 1 cent per lineal foot for cedar poles, piling and fir piling, for a period of two years. No taxes to pay, no fire prevention to pay and no royalty to pay as this is all E. and N. land and free of royalty and export charges."

"I am interested in 1,000 acres situated within a mile of Sooke Lake watershed, on rougher ground, and being only 1,000 acres, it is more expensive to open up. We sold cedar poles off this land at 3 cents per foot this year and recovered 4½ cents per foot out of cedar and fir piling, at contract prices. Manson Brothers are paying 3 cents per lineal foot at Muir Creek and having to haul by truck and Canadian National Railway at Sooke Harbor, which is a haul of several miles."

"This land, belonging to the people of the city of Victoria, has the E. and N. Railway running through it from end to end, and I venture to say the poles and piling are more accessible and cheaper to take out than from any other tract of timber this size laid on Vancouver Island for rail shipment."

"I estimate we have on this public property 300 or more cedar poles and piling that will average forty feet in length, or 3,000,000 lineal feet, worth 3 cents, which would be equal to $90,000."

"The tender price will bring only $20,000, a loss of $40,000 on cedar poles and piling alone, to say nothing of the loss of the timber value of the land and the ten-year period which the tender permits, we may assume this price will noticeably advance."

"The inner harbor, he said, was the cleanest and most business-like that he had ever seen. He complimented the port customs and immigration officials on their courtesy."

Mr. McCabe was surprised at the number of trailers on the road. "The cabins got to be a problem with the hotels, and now the trailers are getting to be a problem with the cabins," he said.

"Of the November elections in the United States, Mr. McCabe said: 'I think the thing that will hinge on California. It has taken quite a different aspect there in the last two or three months. I think the State will go Democratic—it would be like shooting Santa Claus if they did not—'"

The inscription on one side of the block read: "Sacred to the memory of the officers, non-commissioned officers and men of the Forty-fourth Canadian Infantry, who fell in the attack on Vimy Ridge, the Triangle, La Coulotte, April, May and June, 1917."

The scrapbook also contains many interesting photographs, postcards, newspaper clippings of the war, propaganda pictures, a collection of paintings celebrating the flag-days of the nations and an interesting chronology of the war.

Star students enrolled in the summer course of the Victoria branch, Royal Astronomical Society of Canada, will visit the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory this evening at the special invitation of Dr. W. E. Harper, director. The giant telescope at the observatory will be trained on the moon, it is expected.

At the last meeting Miss Phoebe Riddle related to the class the moon's probable history and structure. Chartered buses will leave for the observatory from the Y.W.C.A. at 7:30 o'clock this evening. Dr. R. M. Petrie is director of observations. The president of the local branch is Lieut.-Commander H. R. Tingley.

E. T. Kenney, M.P.P. for Skeena, visiting Victoria today, was full of praise for the way in which men in the north country have worked to re-establish communications after the disastrous floods of last month. Damage done was much greater than was generally realized, he said.

The north suffered a real disaster as the Skeena overflowed its banks, sweeping away houses, bridges, and scores of miles of railway line. "You hear, sometimes, that the morale of our men is poor," he said, "but the way the young chaps responded was revolutionary. They were out working as much as sixteen hours a day, but there was no grouching and they finished like young colts."

The Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association and the Victoria District Fish and Game Association, who are co-operating to help the fish out of their present predicament, are hoping for at least thirty volunteers to wield a pick and shovel to form channels big enough for the fish to get down to the sea.

Representative of both bodies were out looking the situation over this morning and were mapping out the best course to take when they start their missionary work. It is hoped that they will be able to secure tools and a truck from the city to undertake this necessary work.

Who's Who At Hotels

Among the Californians who registered at the Strathcona Hotel over the week-end were Miss E. C. Coulson, Los Angeles; Mrs. Friedman and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. P. P. Misquitor, Oakland; F. J. Greene and Pasadena; Myrtle W. Ritter and mother, Alhambra, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Euerhart and family, Woodland; Mrs. H. B. Higbee, Petaluma, and Miss Martha Thompson, Petaluma.

Other United States visitors registered at the Strathcona Hotel over the week-end included: Mr. and Mrs. P. R. Chevalier, Lincoln; Mr. and Mrs. S. Davidson, Portland; Mr. and Mrs. L. Kaufman, Portland; Mr. and Mrs. Ted Longworth, Portland; Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Hewitt, St. Louis, Mo.; Mr. and Mrs. N. B. Connolly, Tacoma; Mr. and Mrs. B. Temersma, Salt Lake City; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Chalcator, Tacoma; Mrs. Wilma Whitner, Emma States, Mrs. Doris Bates, all from Seattle.

Another prominent United States hotel man is also holidaymaking at the Empress Hotel at present. H. W. Klare, vice-president of the great Statler Hotel system, was among the week-end's arrivals. Mr. Klare registered with Mrs. Klare from Detroit. His headquarters are in New York.

Still another hotel manager who is vacationing here is C. A. Wherry of the Hughson Hotel, Modesto, California. Mr. Wherry arrived at the Dominion Hotel yesterday with Mrs. Wherry after a leisurely ten-day trip up the coast, stopping off in Oregon, Seattle and Vancouver.

One of the most unconcerned political candidates on record is Raymond Tremaine of Los Angeles, who is running on a Republican ticket for the state Legislature. He arrived here yesterday after a period of training at Port Lewis. He is a captain in the reserve of the U.S. artillery.

"Maybe it is just as well if I do not make any speeches," he said. "I would get a big kick out of it if I was elected. It would be great to be able to get up and speak my mind for a change."

Mr. Tremaine then launched into a long discussion of the inside track of California politics, not for publication. After some time Mrs. Tremaine came up and said, "Still talking politics?" in a disinterested voice.

"Tourist business during the month of August will be enormous along the whole Pacific Coast, including this city," is the opinion of J. H. McCabe, manager of the St. Francis Hotel, San Francisco, and president of the California Hotel Association.

McCabe arrived with Mrs. McCabe at the Empress Hotel yesterday for a week's holiday on Vancouver Island.

The inner harbor, he said, was the cleanest and most business-like that he had ever seen. He complimented the port customs and immigration officials on their courtesy."

"Annie Oakley"
At The Atlas
The thrilling story of a beautiful girl who, wholly feminine at heart, became a man's vocation and found romance as well; and who captured the world's rifle-shooting championship is brought to the screen in "Annie Oakley," starring Barbara Stanwyck. This picture opened at the Atlas Theatre today.
The film is based on stirring, unusual events in the life of Annie Oakley, who attained international fame in the eighties with the Buffalo Bill Wild West Show. In her debut demonstration of her shooting skill, she met the man who was later to become her husband.
William Harkness, one of the outstanding magicians of the Pacific Coast, is appearing daily on the stage with a specially arranged show. For his excellent performances he was recently awarded the coveted Houdini Trophy.
"Honors Easy," starring Greta Nissen, is the added feature on the screen.

Olsen, Johnson
Here Wednesday
Olsen and Johnson, the internationally famous comedians who have delighted millions with their antics on the stage, screen and radio, are coming to Victoria. This famous pair of clowns is scheduled to open a four-day engagement at the Capitol Theatre, and will present their original New York road show, "Anything Happens," starting Wednesday.
"Anything Happens" is a fast-moving modern revue in twenty-one scenes and boasts of a cast of fifty Broadway artists, including a large chorus of beautiful Glee Foster Girls, who come direct from the Roxy Theatre in New York.
For years Olsen and Johnson have been noted for their comedy. It is impossible to describe just what takes place in "Anything Happens."

OUT OUR WAY
B-H-H-HOOO - WE COULD DROWN ME, AND YOU'D STICK UP FOR HIM - B-HOOO - "IT MIGHT HAVE BEEN A COINCIDENCE" - BAH-WHY, A BABY COULD SEE IT'S ONE OF HIS TRICKS - WITH THE HOSE ALL SET, SO WHEN YOU SWING IT, STRAIGHTEN THE KINK OUT AN - B-HOOO - LOOK AT ME!
I WASN'T STICKING UP FOR HIM - I JUST DIDN'T THINK HE'D EXPECT YOU TO BE SO DUMB AS NOT TO NOTICE SOMETHING FISHY ABOUT THAT HOSE HANGING THERE.

POPULAR STAR AT DOMINION

Edward Everett Horton Plays Leading Role in
"Nobody's Fool"

"Nobody's Fool," the Universal film starring Edward Everett Horton, at the Dominion Theatre, beginning Tuesday, is a story about the dumbest or the cleverest man in town, depending on the viewpoint.
His lack of guile and his proclivity for putting his foot into situations where other folks would not dare to thrust a ten-foot pole, lifted him from the humble job of small town waiter to the position of leading Manhattan realtor.
Whenever he was called on to talk, he had one set speech, about better housing conditions. By sheer luck, or the Providence that watches over babes, fools and real estate promoters, he made that speech to a gathering of the leading operators in the metropolis. And they were impressed.
He got mixed up in a plan devised by real estate sharks, to gouge owners of property where title flaws could be shown. From this muddle, while facing the toughest gang of high-binders in town, the fellow everybody thought a dummy worked out an honest project for better housing conditions. His plan guaranteed a return to investors. Best of all, it gave decent living conditions to people who had never known them before. Hollywood reports declare "Nobody's Fool" to be swift moving comedy.
As the second feature on this programme is "Dracula's Daughter," starring Gloria Holden and Otto Kruger, is being shown.

as the action is fast from the opening to the surprise finale. One thing is, however, assured that the Olsen and Johnson show will be different from any other stage production to ever play Victoria.

Love that defies the dangers of the Arctic, a native hero, with more romantic appeal than a screen idol; and women whose beauty is touched with the pale sheen of northern lights, are shown living their lives in "Eskimo," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's epic of the north filmed from the famous story by Capt. Peter Freuchen, which will open at the Columbia Theatre on Thursday.

It is only a few decades ago that nursing, "woman's noblest calling," as the immortal Florence Nightingale termed it, was regarded with contempt by respectable people.
As the living embodiment of unselfish service to humanity, Miss Nightingale has been the subject of much literature. Henry Wadsworth Longfellow's poem dedicated to her as "a noble type of good heroic womanhood" is memorable. Many tributes have been paid to her, one of the greatest, "The White Angel," the first National picture now playing at the Capitol Theatre.
Warmly received by the public, it should interest doctors especially, since it has been produced with amazing fidelity to historical and scientific fact by Warner Bros., the same company which made last season's "Story of Louis Pasteur."
Clever characterizations of Micawber, Scrooge, Trish Heap and other unique characters are provided by Clement May, well-known stage and screen star, who appears in person on the Capitol Theatre stage.

Other tremendous scenes include several "dog fights" between aviators of two South American countries, the crash of an airplane piloted by Holt against a hangar, parachute jumps, and the "strafing" and bombing of an airport. Through all this runs the romance between Holt and beautiful Mona Barrie, who meet at a gay fiesta.
Being shown as the second feature is "A Night at the Ritz," starring William Gaeragan and Patricia Ellis.

Tonight, the Show Boat entertainment will be given by Curley's Musical Harvesters, supported by the sixth amateur talent contest.
This aggregation of mountain musicians has so far topped all attendance records at the popular Show Boat.

Tonight, according to E. H. Edick, secretary of the Tourist Trade Association, the Hill Billy aggregation will present a novel interlude entitled "Albert's Pilgrimage from Sayward to Victoria."
Among the amateur aspirants for Victoria amateur honors tonight are two juveniles from Ladysmith, who will offer an exhibition dance based on the spring song.

More astounding than her unforgettable father... weilder of a strange power over women and men!

Jack Holt At The Columbia

The blasting of a war-time ammunition dump, containing more than five tons of high-powered explosives, is one of the thrills of Universal's gripping story of aviation and war in South America, "Storm Over the Andes," starring Jack Holt, now playing at the Columbia Theatre. The job is done from a giant bomber piloted by Antonio Moreno and Holt in the production.
Other tremendous scenes include several "dog fights" between aviators of two South American countries, the crash of an airplane piloted by Holt against a hangar, parachute jumps, and the "strafing" and bombing of an airport. Through all this runs the romance between Holt and beautiful Mona Barrie, who meet at a gay fiesta.

At a recent convention attended entirely by mothers, a youthful delegate threw a bomb into the meeting by declaring that "modern mothers have not sufficient knowledge to help their daughters cope with the problems of life."

That this is the attitude of the average daughter to the average mother, no one will deny. Even when daughter loves Mother she regards Mother as a nitwit and a back number who is to be pitied rather than blamed for her lack of sophistication, and whose counsel would be of no value whatever to an enlightened modern such as she is.

This is the reason that girls give for not confiding in their mothers. They feel that their mothers are so out of their class, so inexperienced, so uninformed of what is going on in the world, so out of touch with life that they cannot understand their problems and would be worse than useless as guides along the rocky road the girl of today treads.

Considering that virtually all mothers read the daily papers and attend the movies, and not a few of them get around a bit themselves, hence cannot be wholly ignorant of playboys and lecherous employers, love nests, night clubs and what not, one wonders what phase of life girls think their mothers have not heard of. Also, considering that the woman who has known love and marriage and borne children has run the gamut of sex experiences, it is hard to understand why daughter thinks that Mother knows so little of what is euphemistically called the "facts of life" that she is incapable of teaching her little ewe lamb how to escape the big bad wolves in sheep's clothing.

But daughter does. She agrees with our secret that "present-day mothers have not sufficient knowledge to help their daughters cope with the problems of life." I wonder what are these problems of life of which modern mothers are so ignorant that they cannot teach their daughters how to meet them?

Possibly Mother could not tell Gladys how to be a cinema star, nor teach Portia how to win a law case, nor give Sally a tip on how to win out on Wall Street. But, after all, nobody can teach another the secret of how to achieve success in a career. The ability to do that is a gift from God and, anyway, few girls are seriously concerned with careers. Nor are they intent on money, and if Mother cannot teach them the art of making it she can at least teach them the science of spreading it over the need of life. For what the average housewife does with a limited income makes the juggling of financiers and bankers look like the bungling of amateurs.

The real problem in every girl's life is love, how to find it, how to win it, how to keep it, how to tell the spurious from the real, how to make it the crowning glory of her life instead of its undoing. Mother knows about that more than a whole college full of spinster professors who may be M.A.'s, but have never been M.A.'s, and when she sees daughter getting starry-eyed and beginning to hang around the telephone of an evening, she could give her a lot of expert advice on what to do, how to cut it, how to play her fish and make her catch, if only daughter would listen to her.

Is it the modern girl's temptation that their mothers cannot understand? All temptations are old stuff. There hasn't been a new one invented since the serpent got in his dirty work on a bored woman in the Garden of Eden. The city slicker, the glib talker, the man with a way with him, the misunderstood husband, the spender, the man who talks love instead of matrimony, Mother has met them all, and she knows just how appealing they can be and how easy it is for a girl who is hungry for love or starved for pleasure to let them lead her into the downward road.

So, after all, what are these great problems that confront the modern girl that her mother is not intelligent enough to understand? We pause for an answer.

Uncle Wiggily and The Hoot Owl

By HOWARD E. GARIS

Spot, the fire dog that had come to live back of Uncle Wiggily's hollow stamp, was doing a very good job of his job, the honey-bee, and when she saw daughter getting starry-eyed and beginning to hang around the telephone of an evening, she could give her a lot of expert advice on what to do, how to cut it, how to play her fish and make her catch, if only daughter would listen to her.

"Well, I don't feel sleepy," I'd like to say to myself, "I'm going off into the land of nod." But I don't feel sleepy. I'd like to say to myself, "I'm going off into the land of nod." But I don't feel sleepy. I'd like to say to myself, "I'm going off into the land of nod." But I don't feel sleepy.

He walked around the porch and then said to himself, "I'm going off into the land of nod." But I don't feel sleepy. I'd like to say to myself, "I'm going off into the land of nod." But I don't feel sleepy.

So, without ceremony, he sat on his hat, he started down the path. He thought of waking Spot and asking the dog to go with him, but then he decided that Spot was tired and needed his rest. The fire dog had been doing very well, but he was tired and needed his rest. The fire dog had been doing very well, but he was tired and needed his rest.

Besides Uncle Wiggily decided it might be fun to try to find an adventure all alone for a change.

A CIRCUIT RING

He went on and on and finally came to a brook where he had a nice long drink of cool water. On the other side of the brook was a great big place in the midst of the forest. Men had been cutting down trees and they had left a circle that reminded Uncle Wiggily of a circus ring.

"It would be nice if there were some real circus performers, so I could get here and watch them. I'd like a sure thing!"

But was it such a sure thing? The rabbit gentleman had no sooner reached the edge of the clearing, where the trees did not yet bend, when out of the forest jumped the Wolf!

"Well, the Wolf!" yelled, "Uncle Wiggily! Were you coming to visit me? Were you going to let me nibble your ears?"

"I certainly was not!" Mr. Longears exclaimed. "And I'm not going to let you nibble my ears now!" He turned around and started to hop to the other side of the clearing as fast as he could.

But then—my gracious! From out of the side of the forest jumped the Fox!

"Welcome, Uncle Wiggily!" said the Bad Chap snickered. "I see you don't want the Wolf to nibble your ears—yep, rather I did it! Now that's what I call real friendship!"

IN BAD SPOT

Uncle Wiggily was certainly in a bad spot, wasn't he? He hopped away from the Fox, but as he did so he came closer to the Wolf. And when he tried to escape from the Wolf he found himself faced by the Fox. He was betwixt and between, as they say.

"I guess there's enough on your ears for both of us!" the old Wolf laughed. "Who'll be the first to nibble, Mr. Fox, or I?"

It did seem as though Uncle Wiggily was a goner. But just then something strange happened. A great owl flew down from a tree, right between the Fox and the Wolf. And he bore to vibrate from side to side, as though blinded by the bright sunlight.

"Let's get him!" the Wolf shouted. "He can't see—owls can't see in the sunshine—let's get him!" Come on, Mr. Fox!

So they both ran toward the owl, forgetting Uncle Wiggily in their excitement. The owl would fly a little, then stop, and the two bad Chaps followed him. But just as they caught up with him the owl would fly a little more. And do you know, in short time that owl had led the Fox and the Wolf far into the woods and they never caught him!

Then he flew back laughing. "Didn't I fool them, Uncle Wiggily?" he chuckled. "I can see well enough in the sunshine. I just made believe I couldn't so you could get away. Ho, ho, ho!" and he laughed harder than ever, did this hoot owl.

You may be sure Uncle Wiggily was something of a friend many times. It was something to remember, too—that owl can see in the day time! And tomorrow night, if the carrots-shrike doesn't grow tall, I'll tell you about Uncle Wiggily's Summer School.

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel"

TUESDAY, JULY 28, 1936

Benefic aspects strongly dominate today, according to astrology. It is a day in which to employ one's best energies, no matter what the situation may happen to be.

Demand for trained hands as well as untrained brains will be great through the autumn, when a dearth of men skilled in various trades will be serious.

Workers of every class should benefit under this configuration, which stimulates mind and body, and subjects to fortunate planetary influences.

Following excessive heat last month and next, high winds may be expected in many parts of the country. There will be fresh storms all through the remainder of the year.

Love of life in holiday ventures will continue to be heavy through the autumn. Swimming and hunting will take heavy toll of persons who indulge in recreation at this period of the year.

There is a sign of great promise for the majority party, which will sustain many assaults from enemies with startling facts as ammunition.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of good work, but they should be cautious in dealing with strangers and in signing legal papers.

Children born on this day are probably well as unusually gifted in mind and strong in body. Subjects of this sign may be able to gain lasting fame.

Mary Anderson, actress, was born on this day, 1880. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include Stephen Phillips, poet, 1865; James A. Bayard, statesman and diplomat, 1767; and Camille Corot, painter, 1797.

T. H. CUNLIFFE, MONTREAL, DIES

Montreal, July 27.—T. H. Cunliffe, sixty-five, assistant financial editor of The Montreal Gazette since 1919 and advertising manager for twenty-one years prior to the Great War, died here Saturday.

A native of Bolton, Eng., Mr. Cunliffe was a son of Thomas Cunliffe, proprietor of The Bolton Guardian, a journal which has long since suspended publication but was founded by T. H. Cunliffe's great grandfather.

Mr. Cunliffe came to Canada forty-five years ago and shortly afterwards joined the Gazette. During the Great War he was employed in Canada by the Dominion Government after being turned down for enlistment because of failure to pass physical examination.

The Pacific Commerce is expected at Ogden Point tomorrow morning to load a parcel of Vancouver Island lumber for Atlantic ports of Canada.

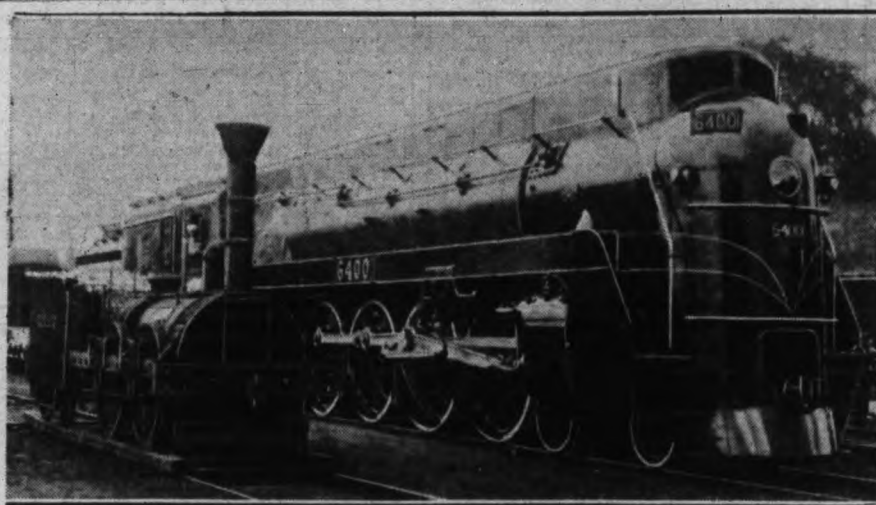

The freighter Vestvard was in port Saturday afternoon and left at 8 o'clock this evening for Port Alberni. She will be off Victoria again late this evening on her way to Vancouver.

DOWN THE GANGWAY

The Empress of Asia Brings a New York Writer from the Orient—Party of Jesuit Missionaries, Home on Leave, Also on Board—Toronto Man is Steady Pacific Traveler—World Travelers Are Also Passengers.

The Empress of Asia chose a perfect morning to arrive here from the Orient after what her officers and passengers described as a perfect trip. And it is not often, by the way, that passengers and officers on the one ship agree about the weather, unless it is perfect. The Empress slipped up the straits in the dawn this morning and was fast alongside the Rithet piers by 7 o'clock. And hour and a half later she was on her way to Vancouver.

The Empress came here direct from Yokohama. The voyage took ten days, and during that time the passengers enjoyed long days of warm sunshine—rather unusual for the North Pacific, even in the middle of summer. Not until this coast was neared was there any fog.

"The way one must acquire new aesthetics for the Far East is tremendously interesting. I think," said Helen Louise Stockwell, well-known writer of New York City, who was aboard the Empress of Asia with her husband, W. R. Stockwell, returning from her first trip to the Orient.

"Out in China and Japan one has to form new tastes and see new kinds of beauties," she said.

Mrs. Stockwell went to the Orient largely because she was keenly interested in the Chinese drama. She studied these plays and it is just possible she may write a series of articles on them.

A charming woman, with a winning personality, Mrs. Stockwell was educated in Europe and has traveled there extensively.

"A radiant morning and all those lovely garlands," she said, as she and her husband returned from an early morning drive about Victoria.

Six Jesuit missionary priests from Maryland, who have been laboring in the Philippine Islands for the last three years, were aboard the Empress of Asia this morning. Happy as schoolboys on vacation, these priests will have six months with their relatives and friends in the east, and will then probably be sent back to the Orient. They all admitted they liked it out there, but could not quite hide their satisfaction at again touching America's shores.

In the party were Fathers J. H. Buttner, F. H. O'Neill, J. J. Farrell, T. R. Tuite, G. F. Knoepfel, T. J. Rocks, W. P. Masterson and J. J. McKeaney.

L. B. Stiles of Toronto must know just about every way between Victoria and Yokohama. He has been across the Pacific enough to know every mile of the route by heart, if there were any landmarks on the way. He was a passenger on the Empress of Asia this morning. Mr. Stiles is foreign buyer for the H. Eaton Company and three or four times a year he crosses the Pacific and visits China and Japan to buy wares of the Orient. He always manages to enjoy his trips, but there are times, it is imagined, when he would just as soon stay at home.

There were quite a few missionaries on the Empress of Asia this voyage, in addition to the Jesuit party. They included Miss B. R. Bailey of the Church Missionary Society of Kobe; Miss A. M. Cole, connected with the Japan Evangelistic Society; Miss F. M. Freeth, who is returning from the active work of the Church Missionary Society.

Business people on the Empress of Asia included Miss U. Mount-Biggs, connected with the Standard Oil Company in Seoul; William Pryor, assistant general manager of the Kaituma Mining Administration at Shanghai; J. J. Turner, connected with the Johnston, Allen Company of Ireland and S. A. Wade, prominent wool buyer of New Zealand.

Alaska Vessels Have Busy Time

In company with other transportation companies, the Canadian National is enjoying an exceptionally fine tourist harvest this year and the current week is probably the heaviest in the history of the company.

With the departures of the Prince Rupert last Monday, the Prince Robert and the Prince David yesterday evening and the Prince George next Monday the company will have taken over 1,100 passengers to Alaska in a period of eight days, which is probably a record for one organization.

The Prince George sailed on Wednesday evening on a short cruise to northern British Columbia ports with a large crowd of holiday-makers and tonight the Prince Charles will sail with a capacity list for the Queen Charlotte Islands. On Wednesday and Thursday the Prince Robert carried large crowds on excursions to Jervis Inlet and the San Juan Islands.

In addition to these departures, the Canadian National have had a steamer arriving with vacationists every morning this week with the exception of today, so that the Canadian National dock in Vancouver has been one of the busiest places in the city. Victoria has been well represented in the passenger lists of all boats.
